WE APPEAL TO

All Princetonians who are anxious to share their Christmas with others—with others whose ways of life and almost unbreathed hopes for the future force them to live in the shadows where Christmas can be one more long, gray day.

Because Christmas, particularly in a world torn by fears and besieged by nagging doubts, is a season for inner as well as outer joy, and because all too seldom do youngsters thirsting for happiness and a sense of belonging come to feel that Christmas can also be for them, TOWN TOPICS presents the following paragraphs for this entire community:

There are among us several dozen boys and girls who are the victims of situations and forces they may well never grasp. They range in age from toddlers to seemingly mature 'teen-agers and they could be called Princeton's "perplexed, or forgotten, few." While their every-day needs, such as food, medicines, and coats and rubbers, are met by the established welfare services, what they need—and crave above all else—is the assurance that children are wanted, and never more than at Christmas, and that grown-ups do not live for grown-ups alone.

Most often it is the creeping paralysis of worry and uncertainty, whether forcing an older 'teen-ager to seek solitary solace in unusual outlets or making the hours of darkness, including afternoon naps, a series of agonizing nightmares for a 5-year old, that is hard to define and even more difficult to resolve. The unseen problems of the individual child and the complicated relationships between human beings are crucial issues on which lives can be wrecked beyond salvage—unless, somehow or other, they are given the kind of thoughtful assistance and guidance which are fully as important as tinsel or bright lights, or laughter around a tree.

David, undersized, and giving the impression that he is "all eyes," has just turned 9 and urgently needs the brightness of Christmas around him. His mother died when he was two and several years later his father married a cripple who loved and desperately wanted David as her own. The prospect of happiness dissolved as David's father was hospitalized for tuberculosis and his "new mother" fell victim to a heart condition. For 18 months, until this trio was reunited last spring, David existed in a cheerless home, where no one cared whether or not he ate, whether or not there were severe health problems, even whether or not he found his own way to school. Mr. C. now has a job, Mrs. C. is proving that love can work miracles, but there is no margin even for the simplest kind of "extra."

Three children, ranging in years from 7 to 13, and a dedicated father who has never wavered in his devotion are winning a courageous battle against alcoholism. Although Mr. M.'s salary was adequate, Mrs. M.—frequently losing her pocketbook and often giving her money to others—permitted drinking to dominate her family's life to the degree that bills were never met and the children shivered in the heat of pressures they could not understand. Month by month, ever since Mrs. M. made the decision to seek treatment, this family has been "on the way back." The children's records in school are improving, Mr. M. is gradually returning the household to his wife's control and, bit by bit, the outside help is being withdrawn as Mrs. M. regains her self-confidence.

Among others of whom we are privileged to write are four tensely quiet, seldom-smiling youngsters whose mother, Spanish born and a resident of this country for 17 years, is slowly coming to see that a fatherless family cannot live in a world of its own making. Never sufficiently involved in American life to become proficient in handling her own finances, and totally dependent on the beloved husband she suddenly lost, Mrs. F. has lived in dread of others.

Her children except for school have not been allowed out of the house, the curtains have always been tightly drawn, no one has been allowed inside, and medical and dental matters have been forgotten. Guided to Family Service by a concerned neighbor, Mrs. F. now knows that her children cannot live in isolation, that with careful management she can provide the essentials for them, and that in community services and the church of her choice she has unwavering allies in her struggle for happiness and survival.

Amount needed: upwards of $2,200 to enable the Family Service Agency and allied services to extend to citizens-of-tomorrow the understanding and highly specialized help which will help guide them through the maze of bewilderment and could ultimately mean the difference between despair and hope, between apathy and faith in the things that count.

THIS APPEAL IS MADE ONLY IN TOWN TOPICS. THERE WILL BE NO OTHER SOLICITATION OF ANY KIND AND NO ONE BUT YOU WILL EVER KNOW WHETHER OR NOT YOU PASS THEM BY.

Checks should be made payable to The Town Topics Christmas Fund and mailed to TOWN TOPICS, P.O. Box 664, Princeton, New Jersey.

HALLELUJAH!

Christmas Music, Princeton will welcome Christmas this year with enough music to sound around the world and back again. Trumpets and organs, choirs and timpani, musicians of world-wide renown and the Cherub Choirs of Sunday Schools — all are ready with that great and wonderful outburst of music that proclaims "Joy to the World!"

The Columbus Boychoir will sing next Wednesday at 8:15 in Alexander Hall, joined by men from the Chapel choir of Westminster Choir College, some of whom sang in the Boychoir when they were boys.

There will be a full orchestra of 25 pieces, and harpsichord accompaniment for a presentation of the Christmas portions of Handel's "Messiah," the most-performed work of the season in Princeton.

After "Messiah," the Boychoir will sing traditional and modern Christmas carols, directed by Donald T. Bryant. Tickets at the University Store, Princeton Stationers or be Ellie Valentine and Virginia Switten, sopranos; Nancy Dodson, alto; Paul Conner, tenor and Joseph McKee, bass (warning up for his solo role with the high school choir). Anna Royer will be the organist, Mary Krimmel the director.

Later, at 6:15 Sunday, there will be a Christmas Family Night at the First Church with caroling, supper, and songs by the youth choirs and a special octet from the Senior Choir.

Carl Weinrich, the renowned organist who leads the Princeton University Chapel Choir, will present his singers in their annual Christmas Vesper Service this Sunday at 3:30. The public is, of course, invited.

Mr. Weinrich and his choir will be heard in compositions by Palestrina, Victoria, Lassus, Handl, Monteverdi, Praetorius and Schroeter.

The Trumpet Shall Sound. Two other vespers of Christmas music will be given this Sunday afternoon. At 5 p.m., the choirs of the Lawrenceville School and Miss Elsie's School will join in a program in the chapel of the Lawrenceville School.

Clyde Tipton, who directs the choirs, will lead them in a Magnificat by Dufay (this with instrumental ensemble).

Johann Sebastian Bach's "To God on High Be Glory," with trumpets and timpani, and the Spanish carol, "No Me Dires, Maria," which will be sung to the accompaniment of a guitar.

The choir will also sing Tschesnokoff's "Salvation is Created" and Verdi's "Praise to the Virgin," and will conclude with the Trapp Family arrangement of the familiar carol, "Angels We Have Heard on High."

And the Harp. At 4 this Sunday, the adult, youth and chorister choirs of the Kingston Presbyterian Church will sing a program of Christmas music in the Sanctuary.

Miss Marian Rian, harpist, Miss Edith Colton, violinist and Mrs. Marian Rian, organist, will accompany the singers, and Miss Rian will, in addition, play the Prelude and Offertory. Mrs. Doria Barber Bowman is choir director.

After the service, a reception will be held for choir and guests.

The traditional Chorale Candle Light service will be held at 6:45 this Sunday at the Princetonian Church, Lawrenceville. More than 200 young and adult voices will participate, and one of the highlights will be the appearance of a brass and woodwind ensemble playing Christmas hymns and carols. Robert Lehman is director.

This Sunday afternoon at 2:30, and again at 8, the St. Paul's Childrens Choir will sing a program of Christmas songs led by Sister Mary Cecilia and James Kannan.

And the Secular. The Hopewell Valley Chorus, usually devoted to singing secular music, will turn to the Christmas repertoire this Friday at 8:30 to give a concert in the Hopewell Elementary School auditorium. The public is invited.

Jack Hitchcock, director, has chosen Richard Averre's "Did Mary Know?" Caldwell's "Carol of the Little King," the arrangement Robert Shaw has made of "Fum, Fum, Fum" and "Jingle Bells." Mr. Hitchcock will also lead his singers in the "Hallelujah" chorus. Caroline Cushman is the accompanist.

At Westminster, Christmas is family time on the campus at Westminster Choir College. It will begin Monday with the hanging of the greens, presided over by Lee H. Bristol Jr., Westminster president.

The Christmas Chapel Service will be held next Wednesday at 11, and at 7:30 Wednesday night, students and faculty will gather for the annual Yule Log Ceremony in the main lounge of Williamson Hall, lighting the new log with an ember from last year's.

After the yule ceremony, the entire student body will gather in the chapel to sing Handel's "Messiah," led by Alexander McCurdy, college organist, Lois Laverty, Robert Simpson, Ramon Kyser, Herbert Pote and Jacqueline Pierce will be soloists.

Next Thursday, at Westminster's Christmas party, the home choir of the Columbus Boychoir will sing, and Westminster students will hold their annual Christmas Carol contest. Each class presents an original carol, and the winner receives a silver loving cup.

When the party is over, students and faculty conclude their Christmas observances with a 10 p.m. candlelight service. This year, Delight Williamson Holt's "The Candles of Christmas" will be given, with Janice Harsanyi as soloist. Worshippers leave this service with lighted candles, and as they go out of the chapel, they see in the quadrangle of the college, a Nativity tableau of senior choir students. Neighbors of Westminster will hear, throughout next week, concerts of Christmas music played on the carillon bells in the tower of Williamson Hall.

PRINCETON
COLONIALS

In all of western Princeton, no residential enclave quite equals the charm, and the potential, of Brookstone. Here, among the beautiful homes of many Princeton notables, is a group of three Colonial residences which may definitely be described as unusual. Actually, considering their size and unparalleled location, they probably represent the most unusual values, too, which are available, in Princeton, at this time. Every detail of construction, from their solid plaster walls and basement headroom to the authentic Colonial woodwork and hardware, will impress those of you who know a really good house when you see one.

GREY CLAPBOARD COLONIAL . . . here is a fine big house with a square entrance hall, powder room, a vast living room with fireplace, a separate dining room, a large all-electric kitchen with plenty of breakfast space, maid's room and bath and a huge 2-car garage. Baseboard heating, gas fired. Second floor: master bedroom and bath, 3 other bedrooms and bath. $67,500

RED BRICK COLONIAL . . . the architect who designed this impressive residence provided a well-proportioned entrance hall with powder room nearby, a very large living room with fireplace, a separate dining room, and a big all-electric kitchen and a paneled family room adjoining (with its own fireplace), plus a study and a huge 2-car garage. Upstairs: a large master bedroom and bath, 3 other bedrooms and bath. $72,500

COLONIAL WITH GAMBREL ROOF . . . this is a large house — 5 big bedrooms — and it sits on a knoll where its resemblance to a genuine New England farm house makes most people who see it feel quite nostalgic for the good old days back home. The entrance hall has a powder room close by, and the living room, with its welcoming fireplace, is positively huge. The dining room has french doors leading to a terrace, and the all-electric kitchen has a large breakfast space, with a pleasant family room adjoining, and maid's room and bath. Upstairs: master bedroom and bath, 4 other bedrooms and bath. Forced warm air heat, so you can add air-conditioning if you choose. $69,500

These three fine homes are on two-acre plots, and each one stands well back from the road. We are delighted to offer these availabilities to you at this time, and shall be happy to show them to you at your convenience.

TOPICS Of The Town

DEVELOPER WINS
In "Castle Howard" Case.
Hunt & Augustine have permission to proceed to build houses on "Castle Howard" property.

The Township Planning Board, after half an hour of executive deliberation Monday night, gave its unanimous approval to William Augustine's plans.

However, the builder must comply with certain engineering specifications and must show on his plans all tree masses and each individual tree more than 10 inches in diameter.

The tree question is a new one. It was raised on Monday night by Thomas C. Jamieson, attorney for Richard Conger, who told the Board that Township Engineer Frank Quinby was wrong in saying that the "Castle Howard" plans were in order, when actually they were incomplete because they did not show tree masses and individual trees as required by law.

Gerald Breese, Planning Board chairman, said that niceties of this kind were not always demanded of a developer, partly because so many developments had so few trees. However, he reminded Mr. Jamieson that the Planning Board frequently approved plans "conditionally," and that sketching in the trees could very well be part of any conditions laid down by the Board.

New Proposal. Something else that was new turned up

WIELDING THE GOLD-PAINTED SHOVEL at Saturday's ground-breaking ceremony for John Witherspoon Elementary School are (from left) Howard Waxwood, principal of Witherspoon School, and Mrs. Dorothea Lummis, head of the Nassau Street School. Monday night. It was even made. Terms: $5,000 for a five-month option on purchase of the property for $220,000 for community use.

After Mr. Augustine expressed some surprise at this proposal, Mr. Perkins said hastily that the terms had been formulated only that day, and that he had not been successful in reaching Mr. Augustine by telephone. The first proposal was to purchase only Castle Howard land (not the house) for $120,000. Mr. Perkins' letter said that, in this case, the land would be turned over to the Township on the condition that, if state or Federal money were forthcoming for purchase of the land, then the $120,000 would be refunded.

Final decision on "Castle Howard" had been postponed by the Planning Board so that Mr. Augustine could confer, first with Mr. Conger and his group and then with Wild Life Preserves, about the possibility of buying the land and house from Mr. Augustine.

Mr. Jamieson on Monday night accused the Planning Board and Township Committee of a "certain failure of responsibility" in not becoming actual parties to the discussion themselves.

"The real parties to this dispute are the Township citizens and future generations who will live in the Township," Mr. Jamieson declared.

John Hite, 601 Prospect, told the Board that 510 individuals had sent him coupons or signed petitions urging an "Open Space" status for the "Castle Howard" land.

CONSTRUCTION TO BEGIN
For Borough School. A cluster of Borough residents braved Saturday's soggy weather to attend the ground-breaking ceremony for the $212 million John Witherspoon School at Guyot and Walnut Lane.

Mindful of the tribulations of the past three years, Board of Education president Graham Rohrer said as he shoveled the first spadeful, "There's blood in this earth!"

In describing the new school, which will replace the Nassau Street and Witherspoon Schools, Mr. Rohrer stated the Board's credo: "This is to be more than a building. It is, in fact, a vast new teaching machine. Conceived not only to provide the physical and emotional environment for its young students, but to permit the fulfillment of our educational philosophy and programs.

"It is also provided with facilities designed to make it a vital force in the community life of Princeton Borough."

POST OFFICE?
Informal Discussion. Proponents of a new Harrison Street post office appeared informally before the Township Planning Board Monday night. They want the Board to recommend to Township Committee a rezoning of the Harrison Street area from residential to commercial to accommodate the new post office.

Arthur J. Parsons, real estate officer for the post office department, presented some interesting statistics in the course of his explanation of Princeton's post office situation:

- Princeton's post office serves an area nine miles square, including not only Borough and Township, but Penns Neck, Griggstown and parts of Montgomery, West Windsor, Lawrence and East Brunswick.

- This is a "delivery" community. The largest mailer in the post office area — Educational Testing Service — takes all its mail to Trenton, by post office request. This means that only 67,000 pieces a day originate in Princeton. However, 119,000 pieces a day are delivered here. (ETS takes its mail to Trenton, but receives it here).

- In 1954, the post office had 10,000 patrons. It now has 32,000. In 1954 it had 10 mail carriers. It now has 39.

- Princeton's post office serves 830 business firms.

- All outgoing mail is trucked to Trenton, but Princeton-to-Princeton mail is removed, and processed here.

Where, Oh Where? The post office, and the Princeton Chamber of Commerce, want to build a new post office on North Harrison Street opposite the Cities Service station on

Mr. Parsons told the Planning Board that other sites had been considered, but found unacceptable: George Warnecke, owner of the Princeton Shopping Center, turned the post office away. No agreement could be reached with Research Park, and the topography there is awkward anyway. The Township was cool to the idea of a post office close to Township Hall or the two churches near it. And so it went.

Mr. Parsons assured the Board that because outgoing mail is sent to Trenton, there would be no mass all-night operation in the new building, and no trucking after 7 p.m.

"Three or four employees might work all night processing Princeton-to-Princeton mail," he said. He also admitted that there would be one 4 a.m. truck. He told the Board that lights in the rear, toward Ewing Street houses, would be "flooded in" so that they would not shine into windows.

"We're In Favor" Alan Frank, president of the Chamber of Commerce; George R. Cook, Abridge C. Smith III and R. L.
Lenhart of the Chamber's postoffice committee spoke in favor of the new building.

Mr. Smith read a letter from Charles Agle, architect, urging a change to commercial zoning on both sides of Harrison Street. This would, he said, provide a buffer between the residential area from Ewing west, and the retail zone of the Shopping Center.

Mr. Parsons said that, at Something's Missing

If you want to Make a snowman,
You have got to Have more snow, man!

Early December in other years has brought close to a foot of snow, but so far, only two mild flurries have sought to change the color of the countryside.

What's more, the long-range forecast for the next 30 days calls for temperatures slightly above normal.
A milder trend has already begun, and the weekend may bring rain.

present, there are no plans for an Ewing Street driveway.

The Traffic Safety Committee is worried about the effect of the proposed post office on Valley-Harrison traffic, and its members found the 20 parking spaces provided on post office land, "grossly inadequate." The Princeton post office has 120 employees.

The next move is the Planning Board's. Presumably it will study, then recommend or disapprove.

CAR FLIPS OVER

On Elm Road. A 1965 station wagon flipped over on Elm Road early Monday afternoon but its driver, Rodney J.
Hageman, 18, of Trenton, received only a scratch. The car, owned by a rental agency, had been driven only 811 miles.

Hageman's adventurous ride began 300 feet north of the intersection of Hodge Road. According to the police report,

Ifageman left 137 feet of skid marks after applying his brakes, ripped into an earth bank, tore up the sod and flipped over. Then the car skidded another 84 feet before coming to rest against a driveway retaining wall at 161 Elm.

The car's motor was destroyed by fire and the windshield and a rear window were punched out by the impact. Sgt. Michael Carnevale ticketed the youth for careless driving.

At 10:27 Friday morning, four persons were injured in a three-car crash at the intersection of Bayard Lane and Hodge Road.

They are Robert Drummond, 40, 55 Jefferson Road, who was x-rayed for a possible skull fracture and concussion at Princeton Hospital and then released when reports were negative; Thomas E. Shoemaker, 43, 4 Greenholm, treated for three fractured ribs and released; Dr. Shoemaker's daughter, Debra, 16, who received five sutures for a head laceration, and Mrs. Gertrude E.
Lowe, 59, Bayberry Road, treated for shock.

Police say Dr. Shoemaker, a psychiatrist at the Carrier Clinic, turning right from Hodge onto Bayard, accelerated to beat Mr. Drummond through the intersection when he realized the latter was not going to stop for the red light.
Dr. Shoemaker did not make it.

The Drummond car, a 1964 convertible, hit Dr. Shoemaker's car in the rear fender, spinning it completely around.
It continued on and hit a Public Service pole.

Mr. Drummond's car spun

News Of The THEATRES

"NUTCRACKER" READY
Regional Ballet to Perform.
All the confection and tinsel of a children's holiday will be on stage at McCarter for the Princeton Regional Ballet's Christmas present — a production of "The Nutcracker."

With new choreography by Andree Estey and Lila Brunner, and music by Tschitsikowsky, "The Nutcracker" will open on December 19, at 8:30 with a matinee Sunday at 3.

The version of the "The Nutcracker" to be presented by the Regional Ballet will include the divertissements of the second act and the rarely given pantomime prologue and complete first act.

Isobel Johnson of Trenton will dance the Dewdrop Fairy and the Snowflake Queen. Ann Hentz of Pennington will be the Sugar Plum Fairy; Greta Ford and Kathleen Hulst of Princeton will be the Doll and the Candy Cane and Elinor Coffee of Lawrenceville will dance in the Arabian divertissement.

The Princeton Regional Ballet, which has a roster of 40 members, made its formal debut last May. Members, dancers, several of whom are now studying in New York and commuting to Princeton for rehearsals in "The Nutcracker," are recruited by audition from dancing schools throughout the central New Jersey area.

FIVE PROGRAMS LISTED
For the Younger Set. The P.T.A. will sponsor five programs in the winter and spring for children in grades one through eight.

On January 12, Harnick-Adam Productions, Inc., will present "Young Thomas Jefferson," the third play in a series entitled "Preludes to Greatness." A program of pantomime will be offered on February 2 by the Children's Mime Theatre.

A play entitled "Gabriel Ghost" will be presented by Maximilian Productions on March 16, the Princeton University Band will perform on April 27 and on May 18 the Traveling Playhouse will produce "Robin Hood." Schools

Triangle Show to Open

The Princeton University Triangle Club's annual spoof, titled "Grape expectations" this year, opens at 8:30 p.m. this Thursday at McCarter. The undergraduates originally called the show "Sour Grapes."

Other performances this weekend are set for 8:30 Friday, 2:30 and 8:30 Saturday.

have received further details as to time, place and price of the performances.

The program is under the direction of Mrs. A. A. Austin. She is being assisted by Mrs. R. A. Male, Mrs. R. H. Parmenter and Mrs. J. H. Marks.

"LOOK HOMeward, ANGEL" Players' Production. Once again, Princeton Community Players is demonstrating its absorbing interest in really good theatre and in plays that have line and substance.

"Look Homeward, Angel," Ketti Frings' adaptation of Thomas Wolfe's novel, is the current Players' offering. It will play this Friday and Saturday and again next Friday and Saturday with an 8:30 curtain at Murray Theatre on campus.

Before we proceed, let us remind you that driving into and parking on the University campus is now prohibited, even at night. You can drop your passengers at the Murray Theatre doorway, but you must then drive off-campus to park.

The Players' "Look Homeward" is worth seeing, particularly for devotees of Thomas Wolfe who have read his book. Knowing characters and incidents in the novel, it is fascinating to see what Miss Frings makes of them — what she selects from that bursting, over-flowing cornucopia of word and image, how she uses theatre techniques to sketch, in brief dialogue, a character Wolfe may have taken pages to develop, what she has managed to catch of Wolfe's rebellion and despair.

As an adaption, it is remarkably successful, if necessarily sketchy. Lines such as "Tell me how you happened to become a stone-cutter, Mr. Gant," are inevitable, but Miss Frings does not allow these necessary flashbacks to cut deeply into her time.

The Central Characters. For those who haven't read the book, the play is perhaps not quite so absorbing, but it touches nevertheless on almost everyone's experience.

It concerns the Gant family: father a stone-cutter, mother the grasping, possessive owner of a boarding house in a fictitious North Carolina town; 17-year-old son on the brink of a final break from his domineering mother (Wolfe himself, of course); his bitter, intelligent older brother; the slave sister; the wise old family doctor and a passel of boarders rocking on the front porch.

Miss Frings has managed to make all these people sharp and, in varying degrees, deep. If you haven't read the book, you may not realize for a scene or two that Eugene, the 17-year-old son, is the pivotal character, but this works out in time.) Watching the interplay among them — there is no story line to speak of — is interesting enough, but to appreciate the play to its fullest, you really should have the book well in hand.

Lorin Zissman has directed a thoughtful, workmanlike production. It starts slowly, in part because it is not high-paced drama anyway, in part because the cast needs time to meld. Under Mr. Zissman's guidance, however, it picks up pace and motion until, in the final part of the second act and the entire, brief third act, it has genuine movement, cohesion and real feeling.

Top Honors. The unquestioned star is Shirley Kaufman as Mrs. Gant. She is Eliza to the last, gaunt grey bone. Not only does she catch the essence of this hard-driven, hard-driving woman, she even manages to make the audience feel compassion for her, and when at the end, Eliza watches Eugene, her 17-year-old "baby," leave the nest, and calls after him in a pitiful, last-minute plea "throw your shoulders back and be somebody!" Mrs. Kaufman can bring a lump right up in the throat.

"Eugene" is George Christy, a Princeton senior, Blackhaired, with a wistful young face, intense young voice and clothes six times too small for his scrawny frame; he is about as perfect an actor for the part as one could find. Trevor Owens, well-cast as Mr. Gant, achieves the impossible: he does a believably drunk scene.

In other roles, Lois Ann Cohen is warm and sweet as "Fatty," the older woman who loves Eugene's brother, Ben, but Donald Warlock Jr., as Ben, does not quite reach the sinewy bitterness of this lost soul. Ben is a difficult role to play.

Nick Muller as Dr. Maguire, and Judy Neese as Laura, Eugene's first love, perform with competence. Flora Nell Rosebuck is disastrously miscast as Madame Elizabeth, but she isn't on stage for long.

Not many community theater groups would go to the trouble of staging "Look Homeward, Angel." Casting is tricky, directing its large cast is not easy on a stage as small as Murray Theatre, designing its shifting scene presents a challenge all its own successfully met by Philip Paul's two-level set.

Community Players made the long reach and made it successfully, and deserves congratulations on both counts.

"100 BLOWS COMING
But How About the Andes?
It next Tuesday is movie night in the family, something will have to give.

"The 400 Blows," Francois Truffaut's first directorial effort, will be shown at McCarter as part of the International Film Series, with lights scheduled to dim at 8 p.m.

Meanwhile at the Princeton Playhouse, John Godard will narrate his own color film, "Andes to Amazon," latest in the Kiwanis Adventure Film Series. This one will begin at 7:30, to accommodate youngsters with home-work to do.

Truffaut, known as a leading "new wave" director in France, wrote his own scenario for "The 400 Blows," basing it on his own childhood experiences and casting Jean-Pierre Leaud as the 12-year-old boy. Since 1959, when the film was made, Leaud has gone on to a career as romantic young leading man.

PLAYHOUSE
Youngblood Hawke (through Saturday) is a lengthy version of Herman Wouk's 783-page best-seller of 1962. After two hours and 17 minutes, soap opera fans will be limp.

The film has two handicaps: the inevitable comparison with Wouk's giant novel, and the ghost of the tragic Thomas Wolfe. A sizeable part of the screenplay might have come out of one chapter in Wouk's "Look Homeward, Angel."

The plot is concerned with a young Kentuckian who drives a coal truck days and writes nights.

He is brought to New York, given a contract for his first novel and a sizeable advance. He becomes involved with a socialite who dabbles in the arts and cheats on her husband. The story becomes a study in destructive love.

James Franciscus, TV's "Mr. Novak," plays the title role.

The formidable Geraldine Page is the socialite. Others in the excellent cast are Suzanne Pleshette as the earnest copy editor, Eva Gabor, Mary Astor, Lee Bowman, and a host of others.

There is some crackling dialogue, fine photography, but the film leaves you untouched by its tragedy.

COMMENT: Strictly for the girls.

Fate Is The Hunter (Sun thru Thurs.) The picture opens with a jet plane crash, witnessed in detail and at close range.

IT'S NEW To Us

UNDER THE ROOF-TREE
Your House, at Christmas, A present for the house might well be a hammer and nails from Rorer's Hardware Store, but it could also be a seven-inch - tall chased silver goblet from Victorian England, at The Silver Shop. Personally, we could use both.

First, however, we'd like to throw a swag of greens over the doorway and start trimming the house for Christmas.

In its new shop, Cummins has even more room than before to show what you can do with Christmas decorations.
Everything comes up gold at The Cummins Shop this year.

One-inch gold chains, linked together, make the $8 "chandeliers" you see hanging from Cummins' lights. Gold angels are caught in a single teardrop of clear glass, six inches high.

Gold cherub heads, like the angels we mentioned elsewhere, make a ring around a dark green tree. Gold spangles gleam on a gold twist candle, big enough to stand by itself.
Gold-green bell skirted angels fold their skirts over a music-box, playing on viola da gamba or lyre, the Schubert "Ave Maria."

Other Cummins music-boxes are real boxes — you'd never know the music was inside. Mozart, Gounod and Johann

Another music box refreshes the scene by leaving all these boys behind, and playing softly "Gigl."

To hold Christmas candles, Cummins has a seven-taper candleabra in sumptuous wrought iron, for $10.95, or dusty olive green metal, bent to leaf or garland design and wonderful with red. Green or red velvet makes a 12-inch cylinder which holds a small candle in its top so that just the flame shows.

Mouse Aight. At Country Mouse, the candle-holder is probably 22 inches tall. We saw one like that — carved and fluted like a massive piano leg, and painted an antique claret
red. Another, shorter, is green and one is an interesting teal.
These are $20. For $30, there is a 10-inch walnut candlestick, lathe turned and resting on a base six inches in diameter. Could be the most dramatic focus for your holiday decoration.

Candles are a specialty at Country Mouse, as you know.
Scents ranging from "Desert sage" to "Spice" to "Lemon" and, of course, "Bayberry" fill the shop now, as they will your home later. Prices from 98 cents. Slip a tiny scented candle into the wrought-iron owl, line up a row of those long, slim Scandinavian candlesticks in their bright wood colors and tulip-shaped bowls.
(Lilac, old rose, teak)

Like spectacles? Look at Country Mouse's huge Mexican full candleabra almost two feet high with three branches.
Dazzling purples, pinks, yellows, blues have been lovingly formed into birds, religious figures, flowers and garland designs. It's something to see.
Eight-inch pine cones, real ones, are 50 cents at Country Mouse. Buy smaller ones by the bag-full, and individual sleigh-bells for a nickel each.

Almost every shop, by the way, has artificial greens: holly, ivy, mistletoe; and "doughnuts" of berries and leaves to go at the base of a candle.

Lights at Cummins are tiny clear Italian lights. At Country Mouse, lights are Italian, too, cherries and — did we see mistletoe?

Howe's Nursery arranges nuts and cones into a circle to hold three candles ($10) or one ($4) or two ($7.50). Scented candles bring "Essence of Hawaii," "Essence of Christmas," old pine and the like. Religious candles at Howe's look like wonderful old stained glasses, but for sheer gaiety, we like the white painted iron chandelier with its twelve tiny tapers.
The hurricane lamp in Howe's uses bayberry oil ($1.50 a quart) Lamp is $5.50.

Live trees from Howe's are handsome. You may have your tree cut to set in a standard, or

Spangled brandy snifters hold your candlelight from Happy House. One or two candles steps down in a nice slanting arrangement with artificial ivy to soften the line. A Madonna candle is luminous and unit. The big columnar candles are impressive, as always.

And just for fun, under the tree, Happy House offers a little army of gnomes, Santas, choirboys and angels, all painted china, each one about four inches high.

Bow Tie. For Christmas wrappers, Happy House has provided ready-tied bows, shaped and colored like a Christmas rose. Papers, ribbon and cards are ready when you are.

Hinkson's wrapping department is bigger than Christmas itself. We counted 10 bins of paper ribbon alone. You'll find Holiday Scotch tape here, big sheets of gold paper and tiny packages of goldleaf paper for some really fancy decorations.

Hinkson's has paper tableware for Christmas too, including heavy-weight serving bowls, about six inches across, scalloped prettily and decorated with dull gold and bright spangles. They're 10 cents and 15 cents each.

Princeton Stationers invites you to use big, big rolls of wrapping paper and some Frost-white stencils.

Home Decors has added to its Christmas line this year a pair of terry towels with Victorian lady and gentleman in dark red velvet applique against white.

Stone's dining-room is set for Christmas with a poinsettia table runner traveling the length of a solid avocado green cloth. Giant biological specimens — those poinsettias on Vera's linen towels and aprons, at Stone's.

And here, in the linen shop, is a charming Christmas music box with five white bisque angels slowly revolving to the Schubert "Ave Maria." Box is $5.

But We Gave Him a Mink Lawn-Mower

"Unusual" is a key word for a lot of Christmas shoppers, so we rounded up a few of the offer-beat items in Princeton stores this season.

A rope halter with a leather nose piece is available for $2.10 at Luer Hardware, Princeton Junction. Endless uses, if you've got imagination.

Fish bells to use, not for calling the fish, but for hanging and ringing now and then. They come to Viking, the Scandinavian house, from Taiwan the well-known Scandinavian Chinese island. Rough pottery, they hang by their noses and you ring the tail clapper.

Real lemons, grow on trees at Gene Seal's. These are not like miniature oranges, which are just for looks; they are fragrant and delicious lemons ready—eventually—to be eaten.

Chocolate pot in Princeton Decorating Shop's Christmas Bazaar, has the classic wooden mallet with its stick poking up from a hole in the top of the pot. Agitate it like a butter-churn and there you are, with the requisite froth.

From the estate of Dag Hammarskjold, the Silver Shop has acquired what looks like an etched silver mug. Actually, it is a portable night-light, with candle inside, and wick protruding from the top.

So it's winter? Nassau Interiors sells almost as many of its real rope hammocks at Christmas-time as in July. They accommodate any height or weight, and are true, natural rope net. Hang one from the Christmas tree.

Poultry shears with built-in bone-crushers at Urken's, are Regent Sheffield, multi-purpose, we suppose. $5.95 anyway, Viking has a shallow basket full of heavy three-inch glass discs in lime, pale cobalt or royal, each imprinted with figure or design. The milk glass one looks like a waffle. Children in Denmark use them for hopscotch, but what else they are for, you'll have to guess. They could be fastened to windowpane or lamp to filter the light, but we like them just left there in the basket, to pick up and finger, as a kind of holiday tranquilizer.

SOMETHING AMUSING...

Conversation Piece? Accessories, small or large, have been known to make or break a coffee table, so choose with care.

Princeton Decorating, on Palmer Square, has an assortment of non-super-market vegetables made of that stuff they use for dolls' arms and legs. We like best the arrangement of mushrooms, although the alternating carrots and turnips are fun, too, and the pomegranates have the most darkly mysterious color you ever saw.

In quite a different vein, the shop offers a houseful of Austrian hand-enamored ware: little boxes and square mirrors, small cases for memo books, waste-baskets and goodness knows what all. Colors are strong and primary, and the enamel laid on with a thick texture.

La Vale, the jewel and silver shop, has a sterling ashtray with a half-dollar, quarter or silver dollar looming up in the bottom. Tiffany is represented here with a three-tier display of little things, like the $15 Scotch-tape dispenser.

Princeton Stationers has a Scotch-tape dispenser, too, but it isn't Tiffany. It is a heavy-duty, however, and will last as long as your desk does.

Got an Ash Tray? Stone's caters to that desk-top with a $3 black wooden cube. Twelve

The well-groomed woman should treat colors with a wary eye, favoring those kind to her hair and complexion and avoiding those which are uncomplimentary. Orange is the warmest color, but not a flattering one in general. Blue is kind to blonde and brunette alike; yellow favors the blonde, but only blondes can wear the warmer shades of brown which tend to give darker skinned persons a washed-out appearance.

Mail Now! (Please?)
Clear off the desk this Saturday right after breakfast, and address those Christmas cards. Lick the stamps, stick them on good and tight and get those cards in the mail — this weekend!

The plea comes from John L. Dilworth, acting Princeton postmaster, who warns that cards mailed after this weekend may turn into New Year's greetings instead of "Merry Christmas."

This Thursday and Friday, all next week and Monday, December 21, stamp and parcel-post windows will be open until 6 p.m. This Saturday and next Saturday, windows will be open until 5 p.m. This Sunday and Sunday, December 20, stamp windows will be open from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., with parcel-post accepted only on the 13th.

SANTA ON THE PHONE

For 17th straight year, Henry Schultz, who reached his 81st birthday this year, will be playing the role of Santa Claus for the 17th consecutive Christmas this holiday season.

With an assist from Alexander Graham Bell, Mr. Schultz has already begun answering phone calls from area youngsters wishing to chat with St. Nick. He can be contacted every day of the week between 1 and 5 and 7 and 9 p.m. by dialing 924-3883. The annual "Operation Santa Claus" will continue through Christmas Eve.

The Woman's Club of Princeton, under the direction of Mrs. Minot C. Morgan, is soliciting merchants for contributions in support of Mr. Schultz. Early contributors include Bellows, Clearoso Studio, Farr Hardware, Flower Basket, Hulic's, Dr. Nathan Kasrel, Kuller Travel Agency and Lahey's Men's Wear.

Also Landau's, Luttmann's, Langrock's, G. R. Murray, Nassau Hobby and Crafts, Nassau Paint Stores, Princeton Bank and Trust Company, Sturhalin, Dickenson and Bernard, Insurance, Van Cleve Real Estate, Viedt's, F. W. Woolworth Company, The Betty Wright Shop, Wright's Store and Nassau Liquors.

Woman's Club members who are participating in the project include Mrs. Roland J.

THAT MAN IS HERE AGAIN: For the 17th straight year, Princeton's Santa Claus, Henry Schultz, is answering telephones calls from area children throughout the area. Eighty-one years old and sightless, Mr. Schultz can be reached at 924-3883 from 1 to 5 and from 7 to 9 every day of the week now through Christmas Eve.

George, Mrs. Joel B. Johnson, Swain, 26, 20 Lytle Street, Mrs. Louis F. Kendall, Mrs. William L. Liggett, Mrs. M. II. Mesner, Mrs. Thomas R. Webb and Mrs. Thurland T. Wilkinson.

denied a charge of assault brought by his wife, Florence. It was dismissed.

In Township Court, Magistrate James S. Hill fined Gene Bryant, 102 Leigh Avenue, $25

as a disorderly person. Bryant was charged with fighting in front of a Leigh Avenue tavern on November 14.

Mrs. Elizabeth Perpetua, 76, 405 Franklin Avenue, was fined $10, after pleading not guilty to a charge of careless driving. She was so charged after hitting a cyclist earlier in a Township intersection.

The Department of Motor Vehicles suspended for 30 days the license of William J. Wright, 21, of Cranbury, for speeding. Robert Elison, 25, 10 Colonial Avenue, Princeton Junction surrendered his license for one month under the point system.

ZONING CHANGE PASSED

To Limit Witherspoon Business.

Mayor and Council voted

Tuesday night to restrict further business development on Witherspoon Street.

Among those in opposition to this measure was Braxton Ellerbe, a floor-finisher and an owner of the building and upon certain aspects of the Witherspoon and Green, Seydel, Route 69, Hopewell, Mr. future of the area and on the mayor Montgomery, attorney Borough as a whole. Under for Mr. Ellerbe, contended that consideration was an ordinance his client, whose property is to change zoning requirements located at 108 and 110 Witherspoon Street, was in the midst of a legal transaction and would lose nine or ten thousand dollars unless the passage of the ordinance were delayed for several months.

Mr. Ellerbe has wished to sell his property, now used for both business and residential purposes, to a prospective buyer who wanted to erect an office building. When the latter learned that an ordinance change was perhaps imminent, said Mr. Montgomery, the sale could not be transacted until the Council had made its decision.

Mayor and the Council listened to Mr. Montgomery's request that they delay action until details of the new ordinance were more fully considered.
Mayor Patterson emphasized the need to proceed carefully in cases of this type. He mentioned that if every property-owner did what he wanted with his own land, "Princeton would no longer be Princeton."

Replying to a question as to why the ordinance should be approved at that particular meeting, the Mayor said that the zoning modification had been under consideration for several years, and he felt that it was time to act.

More Pressure for a Pool.
The swimming pool controversy came up briefly during the meeting in a letter by Peter G. Loret, head of the Parent-Teacher Organization of the Community Park and Valley Road Schools, encouraging the construction of a pool by the summer of 1965.

Mayor Patterson commended
Mr. Loret and the school organization for their great interest in the project, but he once again stated that those several months "would not give us enough time to build the type of pool we really want."

Mayor and the Council, in other action, considered the request of the Federal Housing Authority that Spruce Street, now a dead end, be extended, and decided to inform the Authority that the Borough does not intend to use Borough funds for the project.

Nassau Street was another area of concern at the meeting.
Approved was a measure enabling the Sun Oil Company to tear down its service station at the corner of Nassau Street and Murray Place and build another there, so long as certain architectural features, signs in particular, meet various specifications.

The 6-8 Charlton Corporation, owners of C.E. Saillie liquor store, was granted its request to expand present facilities at 174 Nassau Street to include 176 Nassau Street and the associated basement.

More Nassau Congestion?
Timothy Sheehan of the Nassau Club, 6 Mercer Street, wished to have his liquor license transferred from the Nassau Club to the Cook Building at 190 Nassau Street. The measure to consider this transfer was tabled until the next meeting of the Council, December 29, at 8 p.m.

Mayor Patterson urged representatives of both liquor stores to see to it as best they could that merchandise was unloaded from the rear of their establishments and not from the front, which would further tie up Nassau Street traffic.

New Fire Chief. Mayor and Council confirmed the new officers of the Fire Department, effective January 1. The new chief is Patrick McManimon.
First assistant chief is Robert Schaeffer and second assistant chief is Richard Wood.

Mayor Patterson commended
the efforts of those in the area who wish to establish a commission to deal with historical sites in and around Princeton Borough and Township. A Township resident present at the Tuesday meeting said such a commission might avoid controversy in the future, referring to the recent Castle Howard affair.

SCREAMS CHASE THIEF

From Stockton St. Home. An intruder fled the home of William D. Williams, 208 Stockton Street, early Sunday morning when he was frightened off by the screams of Mrs. Williams. He took with him Mr. Williams' wallet containing about $70 and a second wallet containing between $10 and $15 from Mrs. Williams' hand bag.

According to Borough police, the Williamses had been out for the evening and returned about 3 a.m. Shortly afterwards, Mrs. Williams was awakened by noise and saw a man standing by her dresser. She screamed and he ran downstairs and out the front door.

Apparently the intruder entered through a rear door leading from the terrace, police said. There was no sign of any forced entry. Mrs. Williams, they said, could only describe the man as "tall and thin."

Another thief had limited success after entering Cenerino's Cafe, 57 Leigh Avenue, sometime early Saturday morning. He escaped with two bottles of scotch and $6 from a cash register.

He left behind an empty beer case loaded with 13 bottles of liquor which he had intended to take but was foiled when he could not open any of three doors controlled by a master lock. Police found the liquor cache in the hallway.

Detective Fred Porter reported the intruder forced a window over an entrance on the side of the building to gain entry. Angelo Cenerino, the owner, reported the theft.

Coke Machines Rifled. The rash of forced coke and cigarette machines continues. Three more were broken into last week and in each instance the machine was pried open and the coin box removed.

Needed: $38,695

If you haven't yet written your United Fund-Red Cross check, now's the time. The fund drive needs only $38,695 to meet its goal for the fifth consecutive year.

The amount now pledged or in hand, is 99% of the total goal of $385,265 — money that will be used to finance the services of 30 member agencies during the next year.

Contributions may be sent to: United Fund-Red Cross Campaign, Box 201, Princeton. The fund area includes Princeton, Hightstown, West Windsor, East Windsor, Plainsboro, Cranbury, Montgomery Township, Lawrenceville, Kingston and Rocky Hill.

Ray Holmes, business manager of the Masonic Temple, John and MacLean Streets, reported a machine rifled there; Captain Nicholas Bartolino reported one broken into at the N. J. National Guard Armory on River Road; and the Campus Police said a cigarette machine at Campus Club, corner of Prospect Avenue and Washington Road, was "hit." Police were unable to determine the amount taken in any of the thefts.

REGIONALIZATION?
Voters to Decide Monday. The future course of education in Pennington, Hopewell Borough and Hopewell Township will be decided Monday, when residents of the three municipalities vote on a referendum proposing to combine the school systems of each. A "yes" vote is required in each of the three for the proposal to pass.

Concurrent with regionalization is a proposal to construct a new, 23-room 7th and 8th grade school across from the present high school, and a 15-and changes are mostly in the interest of streamlining and clarity. In fact, Princeton's boat-owners are the ones most likely to be affected: the revised ordinance prohibits the outdoor storage of boats, boat-trailers, house-trailers and camping equipment in a residential district.

The proposed new ordinance upgrades the Route 206 "service area" to a business zone. This means that things like lumber yards, cement works and heavy-duty operations that need big trucks and freight, will be prohibited, and more attractive business firms encouraged.

At the same time, the ordinance shrinks this 206 area so that its eastern part, on Mt. Lucas Road, reverts to a residential zone.

A changed schedule of regulations on side yards, parking, building height, set-backs and so on, has been incorporated into the revision, again with streamlining in mind.

The "Engineering" zone has been re-named, and is now the "Office and Research" zone. Special setbacks here and in a new "Educational Zone" Princeton University and the Institute for Advanced Study)

"GRIN AND BEAR IT": Winners of the political cartoon contest held by the Township Democratic Forum in the Princeton Schools receive certificates from Harold Mantell, Forum chairman. From left are Joan Schwartz, Princeton High School senior, who won a trip to Washington as first prize; PHS sophomore John King, second prize, and runners-up Eric Saunders, Bill Liederman and George Saven. Meg Edelman and Doug Rickett were also named runners-up. A framed historical document signed by Civil War General William T. Sherman was awarded as second prize; the other winners received autographed copies of "The Cause is Mankind," by Hubert H. Humphrey.

Revision of the ordinance has been the project of the Township Planning Board.

ROTARY CLUB TO MEET

For Christmas Luncheon. The Princeton Rotary Club will hold a Christmas luncheon on Tuesday for members' wives.

The wives, known as Rotary-Anns, will dine with the club in the Prince William Room of the Nassau Inn. Senior members of the Princeton High School Choir will entertain for the club, which helped raise funds to support the choir's European tour last summer.

PETITION PLANNED

For Vietnam Cease-Fire. A petition will be circulated in Princeton during the next two weeks which will ask President Johnson for an immediate cease-fire in Vietnam and a United Nations-sponsored peace conference on the issues involved.

On Saturday, December 19, tables will be set up for all who wish to add their names to the petition at the YMCA, Post Office, Palmer Square bus stop, Davidson's, Princeton Shopping Center and the PAHR office, 170 Witherspoon.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Marjory Pratt, 737-8434.

COFFEE AND CHRISTMAS

Readings at Library. Selections from Dylan Thomas' "A Child's Christmas in Wales," one of Henry van Dyke's Christmas stories, Christmas poems and folk-tales will be read by Donald Ercoyd at the public library next Wednesday between 10 and 11 a.m. as the final "Reading over Coffee" for the year.

Dr. Ercoyd has chosen his Christmas reading from Eleanor Roosevelt's book of Christmas selections, a volume published after her death and including not only well-known Christmas favorites, but one or two pieces written by Mrs. Roosevelt herself.

Coffee will be served before the readings begin, and the morning is open to all, free of charge.

A Candlestick Is for All Year 'Round

This is the best time of the year to find unusual candlesticks. Buy now, when the selection is widest and tallest, and use the candle-holders for the rest of the year.

Bowden, the fireplace shop, has seven brass candle-holders on a low wooden bar, and a single hanging wall-piece with an eagle on top.

Howe brings in from Texas an antique scroll of wrought iron to hang, chandelier-style from the ceiling. With three prongs, $17. A smaller one holds four small tapers, costs $9.95.

Dansk sends to Princeton Gourmet its new pedestal holder in brass and stainless steel, built to take the new Dansk pillar candles or various tapers. Gourmet also suggests the triangular iron holder which can be used separately, in chain or circle, joined like a puzzle. Six are $7.95.

The Mottistone pewter candlestick at Princeton Gift Shop is signed by the Surveyor of the Fabric of St. Paul's Cathedral. It's a small tiered stick. Those crystal sticks at Princeton Gift are scallop, low and petal-shaped. Taller ones are tear-drops.

Use lighter-fluid in Starlite's Everlasting candles, $3 a pair at Thorne's in West Windsor.

Country Mouse's clear glass candlesticks are shaped like champagne glasses, reaching taller and taller until the flame, if your candle is tall enough, almost lights the sky.

Pottery candlesticks for moderns are at Nassau Interiors. In peach, lemon or coral. The tallest is about 15 inches, the lowest about seven. These dramatic holders have a deep, deep cup and a smooth, flaring base which is almost a skirt. Just color and form: no design. Three crossing natural wood dowels make the base for 6 candles on the table at Viking.

But attractive enough to be seen on top is a walnut box, oblong, with a black, rearing stallion enameled against a rich orange inlay.

Viking tosses old check stubs into a little woven chestnut basket, dark and sturdy. Next to it is the $30 magazine rack with suede sling hanging from a teak frame. Tired of sitting at that desk? Ease onto Viking's American Beauty pillow, with yarn pompons in each corner.

Hinkson's desk set, $34, holds two pens within a gold oval laid in marble. Stones laid into walnut in a mosaic pattern hold the pens of a modern executive. You'll know 1965 is coming when you see the calendar department: appointment calendars (the flat kind that let you see into the future), big diaries for big days, little diaries for days when nothing much happens...

Marbles Again. At the Cummins Shop, we found a four-inch tortoise shell marble box from Italy, plain, heavy and handsome. Wonderful just to feel. Round ashtrays here are as throaty and dusky as a cigarette cough, with terribly California designs. Plain, solid, bright enamel on gold cigarette boxes harmonize with those 15-inch modern plates.

Silver Shop on Palmer Square, has a curious little three-inch bowl from Indonesia, intricately chased and formed with sharp petal points. Finger-bowl? Floating rose petals?

From Europe comes a bridal "bowl," less a bowl than a tiny cup, suspended to swing freely between the upraised arms of a figure in bell-shaped skirt. So made that two people can drink simultaneously — try it New Year's Eve.

Delicate Linen or Shelley English bone china is a Christmas favorite at Stone's where you can buy a minute sugar-creamer, jam pot and tray with shy forget-me-nots, or a cigarette urn decorated with black lace and roses.

To Keep the Rubies In. Two wonderful chess sets on view this year: Sharlin, the lighting store in the Shopping Center, has a three -dinner tortoise shell about 12 inches tall and Cummins has a mahogany jewel chest with four small drawers behind a pair of velvet-lined doors. Two large drawers are underneath. Each is $50.

Country Mouse pries you away from The Habit with a coffin which holds a single cigarette: The Nail. But across the room is a rough-sided fellow — armadillo? — offering his open mouth as an ashtray. What's a guy to do?

Matches at Country Mouse have such bright boxes that you'll keep them long after the last strike. Eight little boxes are packed together: a spray of blue cornflowers breaks like a jigsaw puzzle when you remove one of the small boxes. You know, of course, about Country Mouse and trills. We brought home the little one with soft, shaggy black fur hair, no eyes and an open mouth — he's sucking on a ballpoint pen. ($2.98.)

Weary of Head. Besides all the cushions we mentioned elsewhere, Home Decor has brocade bolsters, solid or antique satin, for the most formal guest-room. Trim, unobtrusive pillows in ivory, pistachio or ice, form the background for all the fancy embroidered velvet and needle point. Fine pink ribbon laid on in a concentric square, makes a charming pillow for a girl's room. But maybe she'd rather have the animal-skin one?

Best Christmas pillow is Home Decor's deeply dimpled red velvet, the one next to the antique green satin.

Bet you don't have enough luggage racks for Christmas guests. Nassau Interiors leaps to the rescue with two sizes: $8.95 and $10.95. Now everybody's welcome.

Have you seen those door-knockers at Sharlin? The wolf's head at $17 is a brass beauty, and the big English brass eagle is a requirement for any early American home (inspite of the "English" label). Smaller ones are $4.40 — for apartments and such. You could match the English brass with a hammered finish switchplate.

While up on the housetop . . . Bowden's pagoda-roofed cupola in copper or aluminum, with weathervane, is $62. Weathervane is $9.75.

Sands and Time. Bowden's has something to pass the time—a one-foot-tall hour glass in brass stand, for $21. Bellows, in this fireplace shop, are numerous and varied. See this spear? It's really a bellows, red and black leather, $9.95. Fireplace tools are contemporary in feeling, designed to hang from the chimney breast or stand on the hearth. Colonial ones, too, of course, but the woodwright—iron moderns are newer with Bowden. Park Lane's are similar.

On the mantel you might stand Ivy Manor's quietly ticking cherry clock with its antiqued brass finials, $142.

Queentown Craft has pottery birds and animals, some in color. One little owl, just big enough to fit in your hand, is a frosted glaze. There's a mouse, a cat, Sally Kunkader's pottery, and pots from Knecht, and Partridge in a Pear Tree, a tray by Ann Gross are part

Keep Warm!

Keep the home fires stoked, burning and warm this Christmas with some good seasonal presents. Bowden, dedicated to fireplaces, suggests log storage cribs, one for a quarter-cord of wood, another for an eighth. The crib is a series of big round metal hoops on feet. Termite—proof! $19.50 and $16.95.

That "Long John" snow shovel at LuCar

Hardware is light weight aluminum with an easy throw and an easy $5.95.

Weaver woolen throws at Stone's Linen Shop are as warm as Bowden's fire.

Solids or soft plaids.

Hearth pillows at Viking have wool rug covers. Queenstown's agreeable pottery display.

Pottery at Gene Seal is designed to hold flowers, naturally. Brilliant blue-black color wraps around, full vase meant to hold roses. Tall off-white glazed porcelain has been shaped for long stems. Paint strokes of blues and blacks streak these tall ones.

Low planters in contemporary shapes are black, too, but Swedish milk glass, fluted, will bring back the light. Reproductions of Egyptian vessels that were put in tombs, might appeal to the living.

Kung Ping's vase is white lacework in round or square shape, for long-stemmed roses. Dragon vases on ebony stands await your offering. Nearby you might place the lacquered candy box with its gold, red or black decoration.

Mat or Cloth. To set a table for holiday or every day, Thorne's in West Windsor uses the Phillipine woven mats in brightly woven straps, four to a package, plus four closely woven straw coasters.

Farkouth, in the Shopping Center, opens out the home-spun cloth that needs no ironing and won't even shrink if you toss it into the dryer. Comes round or oblong in rich old colors.

Leacock Linen cloths are available in 28 different colors, round, or oval or oblong. Your new round table that expands to an oval shape, will need one of these new oval cloths. Peony? Regiment red? Forest green?

Another kind of entertaining cloths for bridge sets. They start at Farkouth with a low bid of $2.98 and go up to a grand ham $24.50. White organdy with pastel linen flowers in tiny applique—exquisite embroidery work on those top-brocade cloths. Any woman will appreciate their artistry.

Cloths for bridge tables come also in pastels, with cut-out corners, and in tailored hemstitching, drawn from colored linen.

The Ring of Crystal. Gourmet is laying out the crystal this year. It's Waterford's "Lismore," the diamond pattern of "Alana" in a heavy decanter, the goblet "Sheila" and the festive champagne, "Glenmore."

A semi-tempered pewter alloy makes a mellow finish for an oven—proof platter, pitchers and a little mortar and pestle set. Another platter has gravy hole, removable carving insert and—it revolves! The wood is walnut, in oval shape. $26.95.

Black walnut makes the new trenchers from Vermont at Gourmet, and a good strong tropical wood makes the dark, handhewn plates from Jamaica, which are dishwasher-proof. $2 to $5 each.

Pewter is an everlasting favorite. This year we find it in many shapes, done in satin-finish, silver finish or the true old dark lead. Try LaVake, Country Mouse, Silver Shop, Happy House, Princeton Gift Shop.

Spin Susie. Viking serves from a small lazy Susan whose five wedge-shaped dishes are the spokes, the dip dish the hub of a teak wheel.

Viking's cutting board is very, very smooth, made of end pieces laid in brick pattern. A long, stainless steel knife lies alongside. $18.50.

For the formal table, LaVake uses pierced or etched silver plated trivets and the straight-sided, smooth-finished plated silver casserole with its ivory ceramic lining. A slim modern peg handle lifts off the top. We like the $115 Tiffany sugar and creamer. Talk about heavy cream! But you can also buy, for $12.50, a little slant-lipped syrup pitcher that is quite as appealing.

Tall silver salts and peppers are $16.50 at Princeton Gift and squat ones without legs, are $12.50. Blue-grass lined salt cellars, for old-fashioned girls, stand on their classic little feet, for $7.50 each.

Dansk again, at Gourmet, this time with teak or dark wood pepper grinders and salt shakers in wonderful shapes, determined in part by the designer, in part by the lathe as it turns. They use that phrase "collector's item" so casually, but these really are.

Lemon Soup. One great big lemon opens up to a soup tureen at Princeton Decorating Shop. It's bright yellow, or bad you guessed? Here in the basement Bazaar is a Portuguese coffee set in pink white and gold, with a golden bird to pour from.

The Silver Shop has acquired from an estate some delightfully unusual pieces. One is a brandy warmer from Edwardian England, made like a tiny chafing dish, standing about five inches. A tremendous oval fruit compote from Glasgow, 1900, is just about as embossed as silver can get, but there's a tiny place for an engraving. Ornate salt-pepper sets have, between the shields, a place for your own arms. But the single demi-tasse pot is purest Georgian, without a trace anything but its own graceful elegance.

A glass centerpiece has an all-over diamond pattern as foil for the flowers etched around its flaring edge. Silver

A TOAST!

Quick trip to the bar? Happy House brings Holmegaard's smoky or clear glasses from Denmark in cocktail pitchers with wasp waists, stemware, decanters and accessory pieces. Even a graceful, thin-skinned little sugar-creamer set for "morning after" coffee.

Kung Ping's Japanese ice bucket is teak, and can also be used during the week for keeping the rice warm, $7.95. The four cork coasters come in a net bag that can be used for bird seed. Everything is double purpose this year.

Park Lane, the Trenton furniture store, greets the season with a Spanish punch bowl in golden glass with eight matching cups hanging from rim. $6. Happy House pours the glogg into a clear glass.

But Happy House's highball glasses revert to the Spanish with a different bull-fight poster on each of the eight. Revolutionary War drums decorate some American highball glasses. Ice-buckets here might be playing cards on white, American eagle on red, or solid ruby bound with brass.

Beer. Here, Viking moves into the cocktail lounge this year with gleaming beer glasses from Denmark by Kastrey. The Tuborg is tall, like a dumbbell with one "bell" sliced off. The "beeristic" are very tall, very thin, waisting in slightly just where your hand wants to hold the glass. Make mine Tuborg.

Cummins Shop has six cocktail picks for $5, each made like a mouse with one shiny eye. Ice-buckets are various; we

Fancy Finding You Here

We have commented before on the unlikely things you find in likely shops, and here are a few more to add to your "Who would ever think?" collection:

Sweaters in a furniture store: Viking has traditional Scandinavian slipovers and cardigans in those wonderful heather colors.

Laundry bag in a gift shop: Country Mouse has a big, heavy bright laundry bag which gives you, in old-fashioned letters, some new fashioned advice. How to wash orlon and dacron; how to dry velvet; how to iron silk.

Kitchen cannisters in a lamp store: Sharlin imports, from Italy, a set of lemon-bright pottery cannisters to brighten any work day.

Bar tools in a linen shop: Stone's particular tool is a London hobby whose hollow head is just the size of a jigger.

Vacuum cleaner in a stationery store: Hinkson's operates one of those handy little hand vacuums that work with a battery and can be carried all over the house (or into the car, especially).

Jig-saw puzzle in a food shop: Gourmet dares you to solve the Jackson Pollack jig-saw puzzle without looking at the solution first.

Scotch tape at a furniture store: Park Lane's dispenser is a machine made like a ticker-tape.

Steel knives at a nursery: Obal Garden Market loves those knives and garden tools of Wilkinson steel.

Salad bowls at a drug store: Thorne's, West Windsor, pours dressing into a kidney-shaped salad bowl of acacia wood; serves the salad into four small matching bowls.

like the crocodile leather one, or the tall $15 job in leather is striking, too.

LaVake's ice-bucket is silver, of course. Here's where you can buy those decanter tags: "bourbon," "rye" and the like, and a $9 silver bottle opener.

Cummins has bar glasses for big parties and hollow-stemmed champagnes, just for two. Silver Shop's wine coolers are 10-inches tall with wide, gleaming silver sides to catch your eye and the light.

For Daddy, buy Gourmet's turtle decanter with its ruby eyes and protruding neck. The Orrefors cocktail shaker is $17.50, and the Finnish martini pitcher has the handle "way 'way down at the bottom!" Gourmet's "Corkelte" is a new opener which works like a bicycle pump—$4.95.

"Lait pur" is a milk jug for your non-living friends.

COOK'S EMPIRE

Kitchen Girls, Happy House keeps a well-stocked kitchen with peper-mill sets and spice racks. One set, $10.95, has two kinds of wine vinegar and three full jars of spices. Here's a wooden mortar and pestle, not always easy to find, and a nutmeg grater with a box of nutmeg.

Sharlin's mortar and pestle are pottery, straight from Italy, with tureens and plates to match in deeprose and beige.

Farkouth's aprons, mixer covers and toaster tops have pepper mills already on them. Wing clean, no washing.

Pepermills at Viking are hand-turned and tall. Look at the rosewood and teak grainings.

Fresh Eggs. At Country Mouse, the kitchen is aglow with Japanese metalware in primary colors, and Vera's linen towels. You can buy a life-size egg here in shiny plastic for 25¢. Fresh.

Spice racks at Cummins are contemporary, with 18 spice cans in rust or lemon arranged on three shelves for $10. Stone's Linen Shop keeps spices in blue onion ware.

lat in a bathroom. It goes with the brass towel tree ($12.98).

Little Grey Hands. Knows what they have at Home Decor? A towel that snaps across the bar so that kids can't pull it down when they wipe their hands. It's imprinted with little palm prints. Clean and white!

Antique wood bath accessories are on the Stone shelves. This shop likes the Florentine with gold trim. A golden towel rack has three rods and a gold mesh shelf. Sunny yellow paint covers a tall cylinder hamper in yellow. A bucket-basket matches.

Two unexpected entries to the bath-luxury field this year. One is silver Shop, with its seven-inch Victorian silver powder box. The other is Princeton Decorating with enameled French glass powder boxes.

SNOOZE AWAY
Next, the Bedroom. Here you'll rest on Stone's Wamsutta

gift sheet and its matching resting on a spiral of teak, a cases, delicately embroidered three-curve spiral, to be exact. Sharlin has the delicate Italian tables with their breathtakingly slim legs and finely and arched bed-rests are $12.95 and up. Lots of restful solids any gay print to choose from.

Home Decor has a lavishly beautiful white nylon spread embroidered with the palest pink rosebuds and green stems. A double ruffle just touches the floor. Comes, most formally, in all-over gold embroidery, too. The gift pillow case-sheet sets here are by Cannon, who sees many roses.

At Fairkouth, pillow cases are "His" and "Hers" or "Mr." and "Mrs." The blanket is Chatham's "Noblesse," a two-tone (reversible) blanket bound with washable velvet. The quilt is either a Harlequin pattern in blues, pinks and greens, or ballet dancers, or a masculine racing-stable design, in the 19th century style.

Something for the drawing-room? Pennsylvania House furniture from Schwartz, in New Brunswick, could be the little cherry desk, just made for a small corner, or the useful coffee table, with two drawers inside its shelf. An absurdly small gateleg table, to stand near a chair, has gold trim on its black legs.

Nassau Interiors' drop-leaf end table is two feet long and a complete oblong when its two leaves are raised. It's Pembroke in design, $47 in mahogany. When guests come, bring out the orange tray on top of its criss-cross orange legs. (Olive or gold, too.) And for a real book-table, consider Nassau Interiors' dictionary stand with two underneath shelves.

One of the year's most remarkable chairs is Princeton Decorating Shop's "Kangaroo." Black leather laminated with nylon for no-stretch, it covers a walnut frame and looks rather like a campaign chair—very manish. It comes in a

I'll Take Padding. Manning's cigarette tables are cherry or painted, the milking stools are padded or severely wood. Even Thorne's has furniture this year: a magazine rack with center partition for $9.98.

Queenstown's Williamsburg tables have maps on top. Park Lane's tables stack as high as three, for $29.50. And here's a sewing bucket in wood, with padded cloth top, for $9.95.

Rug Mart shows the cube table, big, massive and Spanish, and the marble top on smooth Gothic arches. An octagon table has cane covered doors.

Downtairs at Ivy Manor, a $29.95 walnut end-table has a useful pull-out leaf, like an office desk. Nested tables have bright and bubbly glass tops in Harlequin colors and designs.

box, and you assemble it yourself in no time at all. The back has been designed to curve with your back, and comfort is built right in. $33.

Plaid and Wood. Quite different in approach in Nassau Interiors' bright, bright clan plaid (red, blue, yellow) wing chair, its wing lightly outlined with the fruitwood that appears again in legs and arms.

One of the best Boston's we've seen is Nassau Interiors' walnut model, undecorated, unpretentious, but lovely. $34.

Ivy Manor shows, down stairs, a dimpled collection of boudoir chairs, $29.50 for a vinyl astin, to $59.95 for rose-printed chintz with loose pillow back.

Your Christmas lamp might come from the vast collection at Sharlin, where style ranges from a chaste white hobnail shade on the gently brushed brass of a student lamp, to the three-foot tall Italian lamp with its golden cherub resting, tip-toe, on a base of leaves and brass columns. He's holding a hexagon lantern with orange bulb inside.

Stained glass inserts lie embedded in a walnut base below a white drum shade. A marble urn hides a light bulb which sends its light up through the leaves of an artificial fern. The whole lamp is about three feet high. Also at Sharlin, a black tole floor lamp, and many-petaled lamps for the floor.

A wall lantern is wrought iron and crinkle glass is a mellow thought from Dickens himself. A white and gold coach lamp has a six-sided glass cage, and is slim enough to be a tear-drop.

By the way, Sharlin has extra chimneys in clear, frosted or hobnail glass, and candle bulbs in open stock.

Country American's. Country Mouse lights your way with a $30 pewter classic, or a tall table lamp whose base reprints an ad from an old country newspaper: "I Cow, 1 Yearling Heifer" for Sale." The lamp base is black, the shade charcoal. The eagle himself stands free, disdaining the back of a walnut base—$44.95.

Princeton Decorating has tall lamps, too, these in palest natural colors.

Ten Good Gifts for $5 or Less

If you haven't one of those stretch budgets that fits all sizes, consider this list of household presents you can buy for $5 or less:

$1. Pine soap on a rope, nicely boxed, at Home Decor.
$1.50. Wooden bank, made like a ferocious devil, a blue monster or a sadistic-looking surgeon. Country Mouse.
$3. Royal Swansea English bone china flower bouquet, charming in every millimeter of its two-inch height. A delight for a collector. Cummins Shop.
$3.50. A gift from Tiff—Tiffany, that is. The famous label on a silver money-clip. (If $5 is your limit, slip $1.50 under the clip.) LaVake.

$3.95. That kitchen date-slate, marked into days so you'll know when the PTA meeting is, and when you have to pick up the dry cleaning. Happy House.

$3.95. A bacon ironer, of all things. It's a sheet of tempered glass which you lay over the cooking bacon to prevent curling. Can also be used to restrain a grilled cheese sandwich. Princeton Gourmet.

$3.95. Cutting board of striated wood, with a bite taken out of the corner for the all-purpose knife to go in. Thorne's West Windsor.

$4.50. Offwhite Japanese teapot, with six little cups, all prim and without handles, Kung Ping.

$4.95. Six-inch ashtray, enamel on copper, in a multitude of handsome modern designs. Nassau Interiors.

$5. Tea cozy. Hard as the dickens to find—ever try? Queenstown Craft.

The straight, tall table lamp seems to be everywhere. Here it is again at Nassau Interiors where the cylindrical base is pale peach-orange and gold, rubbed—so it would seem—from a Javanese temple. The drum shade is ivory silk. $37.95.

What's at Viking? Lampettes now in sand or turquoise.

Rug Mart, Manning's Ivy Manor and Schwartz love the sturdy country style and the regal classic formality of Stiffel lamps. Rug Mart shows one in a floor style. Ivy has a pair of man's study lamps like huge antiques brass oil lamps. Rug Mart has an early American that goes up or down by a long train of wooden notches.

Mediterrania or Japanese. At Park Lane, things go from Mediterranean and French Provincial, right back to modern. The high-intensity desk lamp is Swedish, $21.50.

Kung Ping decorates a white porcelain base with Japanese flowers and butterflies. The big one is $45, the small is $15.

Floor lamp and tables blend together in Furniture Barn's $64.50 lamp. A hanging lamp here is bubbly pink milk glass, and a chandelier, with six candleprongs, has dozens of hanging crystal tear-drops.

Wooden base lamps are popular with Furniture Barn customers—like the one with a duck carved on an oval base. The shade is a down-to-earth open weave burlap, 24.95. A bookend lamp base has a shade just like it.

To Close... Because it's close to the winter solstice, we thought we'd leave you with a hint around the corner into summer and gardens, starting with Sharlin's low outdoor "mushroom" light.

We're not sure The Cummins Shop intended them for gardens, but the sculpture reproductions here would be enchanting in just the right garden or patio.

These are stone-like—but as close to stone as you can come. One is a Japanese figure, smiling and serene, about ten inches high. Another is a young girl, kneeling, with a bird against her shoulder. There's a formidable person who was almost surely the Empress of China, and there's a

"GUESTS UNLIMITED"
Party Cookbook Published.
"Over the years," begins the town's newest cookbook.
"Princeton hostesses have been entertaining many guests on many occasions. Frequently the number of guests has exceeded expectations. In fact, sometimes our guests may even be a total surprise . . ."

With the situation thus clearly stated, "Guests Unlimited" launches 144 pages of party recipes. They range from Spee-cial Cheesecake and General Summer's Eggnog to Football Casserole and Brandy Black Bottom pie.

"Guests Unlimited" is the culmination of a two-year project by the Episcopal Church-women of Trinity Parish. The book is dedicated to the late Eva Wise Barney, who "entertained beautifully, as any wellborn Virginian does," one ECW member recalls.

Each recipe submitted — and there were hundreds, was tried out by Mrs. Donald W. Griffin and Mrs. Gordon G. Sikes during a rather fattering winter.
Mrs. Elin G. Endersby and Mrs. Curtis Mitchell helped.

Over 400 Recipes. The chances were often difficult to tell. Of the 70-odd recipes Mrs. Griffin painstakingly copied from Mrs. Barney's files, about 50 were finally selected.
The book gives 412 recipes in all, plus a page of tips for making salads.

"The recipes are fairly international," Mrs. Griffin says.
"And they are rich!" Included are Chicken Barbados, Beef Bourguignon, Green Noodles
Gaudenzi, Mexican Wedding Cakes, Coquilles St. Jacques, and Hog Penny chicken salad —
a recipe picked up in Hamilton, Bermuda.

Many are pure American:
Seafood Dip, Fish House
Punch, Quie Borscht, Kidney
Bean Casserole for Friday

TO THE RESCUE: More than 400 answers to hostesses' perennial question, "What will I serve?" are provided by the Episcopal Churchwomen in their new cookbook, "Guests Unlimited." Above (from left) are Mrs. Donald W. Griffin, Mrs. Curtis Mitchell and Mrs. Richard M. Huber, three of the key figures in the project. (Staff Photo)

Most Are Anonymous. The recipes are all anonymous, with the exception of Mrs. Barney's.
She was very good with seafood things," Mrs. Griffin commented. "There were some very good biscuits which I remember having at her house.
"When you move into desserts, she has lots of them — all just really marvelous. Her Chestnut Mont Blanc — it's yummy . . . And there's a foamy sauce of hers that's excellent!"

A number of the recipes were literally cajoled from their owners. One of them, the women said, "is so good that we're afraid that if it is put in the paper, it will appear all over the town!"

Each section of "Guests Unlimited" is prefaced by Cintra Huber's piquant line drawings of serving dishes. "They're all very fine pieces, in use here in our homes," Mrs. Griffin said.

The ECW is organizing the sale of the 3,000 copies of
"Guests Unlimited" ($3)
through captains in the various sections of the parish — including Hopewell, Skillman, Blawenbush, Kendall Park, Pennington, Cranbury and Princeton Junction. Funds will go to church missions. Mrs. Curtis Hitchcock is chairman of sales and promotion, with Mrs. Richard K. Paynter and Mrs. L.
Hunt Myers as co-chairmen.
Mrs. Frederick P. Lawrence is treasurer. Inquiries are directed

Too old to buy insurance?

Being over 65 is no barrier to the purchase of new life insurance. And for many people in their sixties or seventies it can be a very wise "huy."

Here's an example. A man age 75 has a substantial number of investments. At death, estate taxes will have to be paid. To raise the cash, income-producing assets have to be sold, often with severe losses to the beneficiaries. Life insurance can prevent this loss by providing the necessary cash.

Manufacturers Life has a sound reputation for its liberal approach to insuring older people for the purpose of estate conservation or for guaranteeing the continuity of a business. Our representatives are qualified to provide competent counsel to help our senior citizens meet these special needs.

that the drives of ambition and power that caused him to see his own ends as those of the nation, and to overreach the limits of honor in their pursuit, were far graver than historians have suspected.

"In saying that he went far beyond the limits of honor in the discharge of his duty it seems to me that I have only stated a fairly obvious fact, even though the statement does imply a moral judgement. This, it seemed to me, was the barest minimum of comment that my responsibility as a scholar placed upon men."

SABBATICALS PLANNED

For Borough Teachers. Details of a sabbatical leave program for elementary and high school teachers in the Borough School system are being completed by the Board of Education.

Drafted by Douglas Coulter and Donald Blankenbush of the Princeton High School history department, the plan has been approved by the Borough Teachers' Association and given over-all approval last month by the Board.

"In general, it is patterned on the University's policy," Mr. Coulter says. He noted that the Township granted its first sabbatical leave to a nurse last year.

"For the teacher who wants to keep up with his subject, this certainly offers him a way of doing it," he went on. "There are always new findings in any field of study. I believe many will use the time for advanced degrees. If you're changing school, you can't fulfill the residency requirements of most graduate schools."

Leave With Pay. The Board is considering provision for three sabbaticals per year—one for an elementary teacher and two for high school teachers. One half-year sabbatical would be granted at full salary, and two school-year sabbaticals! Currently, the Township has would carry half pay. Teachers on sabbatical Daniel Guttman, French teacher at Littlebrook, working on his doctorate at the University of Texas; and Miss Barbara Taylor, on leave with the American Childhood Education International, Washington, D. C.

The Township requires seven years' service before granting a leave. It pays half-salary, "although this is under review," and at present two teachers may be on leave per year.

"I think the Conant Report had some influence on all of this," Mr. Coulter said. "Money from foundations is becoming more available to teachers below the college level. There are darn few of us who can save over a period of years a full years' salary."

CELEBRATION PLANNED

By YMCA For Dec. 13. The Princeton YMCA will hold its annual Christmas celebration on Sunday beginning at 2:45.

A family event, the program will include the lighting of a decorated Christmas tree by several young YMCA members. The Rev. Clarence K. Brixey of the Kingston Presbyterian Church will deliver a message following the reading of a Christmas story.

A short film entitled "Christmas in Hong Kong" will be shown for the children and the program will also include the singing of carols by guest artists. The celebration is open to the public free of charge. Reservations should be made by calling 924-4825.

FILMS AVAILABLE

From Public Library. The Princeton Public Library has received 17 films which can be borrowed by individuals and groups during December.

The films are 16 millimeter with sound and are on subjects ranging from glass-blowing to a review of "the Golden Twenties." Information about reserving the films may be obtained by calling Miss Therese Critchlow or Miss Caroline Kerr, reference librarians, at 924-9529.

TOP SELLER THE TOPICS

At Woman's Club Meeting, The Woman's Club of Princeton will hold its monthly meeting at the Shrine Club on River Road on Thursday, December 17.

Mrs. R. Palmer Moore, a book reviewer from Elizabeth, will discuss best sellers as the guest speaker. Her talk is entitled "Tis a Book before Christmas."

A LOOK AT THE FUTURE: Architects' rendition of the cage-anditorium Princeton University will build southeast of Palmer Stadium. Seats for nearly 7,000 at basketball games will be provided, as well as indoor facilities for track, tennis and practice in baseball, football and lacrosse. Story this page.

SPORTS In Princeton

DREAMS NEAR REALITY

As Cage Plans Are Revealed. Princeton University this week made public plans for the $5 million building which will place its athletic facilities on a par with the best in the east.

Dreamed of for more than a quarter-century, discussed and planned in off-the-record meetings among University officials for the past two or three years, details of the complex, picturesque structure have now been released for public consumption. To cost $3.5 million in its first phase, the cage-anditorium will run to $5 million when fully completed — but therein lies the rub.

Although the first phase can be finished some 15 months after ground is broken, no date for construction has been set. The answer: as of now, insufficient funds.

The two-level building will arise just below the Caldwell Memorial Fieldhouse, becoming the focal point — with Palmer Stadium — of Princeton athletic activity. Among the features:

- A basketball auditorium with a seating capacity of 6,890, which can also be used for meetings of the entire student body, large alumni gatherings, commencement exercises in the event of rain.
- An indoor track; six indoor tennis courts; baseball infield and dirt practice area for football and lacrosse.

- Thirteen singles and one doubles squash courts; areas for fencing and wrestling.
- Complete facilities for ticket sales to all Princeton athletic events.

Schedule For First Phase.

The entire outer structure will be a part of the first phase of construction, together with the basketball auditorium and indoor track. The other facilities will await availability of the additional $1.5 million.

President Robert F. Goheen said this week that a combination cage-anditorium, which can provide for large indoor gatherings has become increasingly necessary. When completed, it will enable the University to use Dillon Gymnasium for general undergraduate recreation and organized intramural sports.

Save for the swimming pool, the University has outgrown Dillon Gym since it was constructed shortly after World War II. President Goheen said in his last annual report to the trustees. He commented:

"Individual and intramural use could fully occupy it," he said. "Meanwhile we continue to lack indoor facilities for winter track. And — surely, no less of a drag on the institution, whether the occasion be ceremonial, artistic, deliberative, or athletic — there continues to be no auditorium in Princeton able to seat as much as half the student body, let alone students and faculty and visitors combined."

BENCH WINS FOR TIGERS

Reserves a Major Factor. The suspicion that Princeton's basketball team has depth unmatched in any previous year was confirmed in its first two games this season. In the 83-74 triumph over Lafayette Wednesday and the 64-60 down-brook that went the Tigers' way at West Point Saturday, players who had not started accounted for a total of 45 points — a tremendous factor in a pair of close decisions.

The Tigers, who lost to Villanova on the Wildcats' court Monday night, 61 to 60 (see page 43), will play the final two home games on their pre-holiday schedule Friday and Saturday at 8 against Colgate and Navy. On Monday, they'll be 16 miles up the road to school All-American, was particularly intriguing as he played less than ten minutes of the first half, and little more than that in the second before he had received his quota of five. In contrast, no Army player drew his fourth personal until late in the game, and none fouled out.

Incidental Intelligence:

Princeton would have liked to scout Army before it opened its season, but the Army schedule printed in the New York Times of November 29 indicated that the eagles would open their season with the Tigers. To Coach Bill van Breda Kolff's surprise, Army played Lehigh on Thursday, and adding to the mystery is the fact that Lehigh's schedule also failed to include the listing.

Despite the personnel problems caused by the accumulating fouls, Princeton held the upper hand during most of the evening. The Tigers took an 8-3 advantage, trailed briefly at 14-13, and then moved out to a 25-21 half-time margin.

In the final period, they were never behind but an 11-point (49-38) lead vanished when the cadets rallied for a 55-all deadlock. However, Bill Koch promptly cashed in two free throws, Bradley made his eighth field goal just before he fouled out and Haarlow came back to make three of four from the free throw line to seal the verdict. The Tigers made 18 of 21 foul shots to 18 of 27 for Army, and outshot the losers from the floor, 48% to 39%.

While Bradley's 26 points — including ten for ten from the foul line — led all the scoring as much as anything else it was the 13 credited to sophomore Bill Koch that made the final difference. He had not even seen action against Lafayette, but replaced Haarlow toward the end of the first half and gave a tremendous performance.

Six points by junior Don Rodenbach and four by Hummer, all in a reserve capacity, added to the lustre provided by the Princeton bench. In the Lafayette game, it was Hummer who came in well after action had started to score 15, with Rodenbach adding seven more. It may be a while before van Breda Kolff settles on a starting lineup but if his bench continues to provide that sort of scoring punch, it will raise considerable hub with the opposition.

As he so often does, Bradley did not hit double figures against Lafayette in the first half, leaving the floor with only seven as the Tigers moved out to a 40-33 lead at the intermission. But when a stubborn, well-balanced Lafayette quintet came back to trail by only a point with 5:50 to go Bradley bucketed ten points in the final five minutes and finished with 29 for the evening.

Bradley, Haarlow and three sophomores, Robby Brown, Gary Walters and Chris Chimera, started with the latter three showing understandable pressure. Walters and Chimera, started with the latter three showing understandable pressure. Walters played well of both games, and with Bradley fanning out at West Point, is the only one to do so. It appears to be a fixture with the Tiger Captain, but a whale of a battle is in progress for the other three.

HOCKEY TEAM SPLITS

In First Two Games, a come-from-behind overtime victory against Middlebury and a defeat at the hands of Army marked the start of the new season for Princeton's hockey team.

Following the non-Ivy League contest with Pennsylvania (see page 43), the Tigers play the St. Nicholas Hockey Club Saturday at 2 in Baker Rink in their final home game this month. Three former Princetonians, forward Johnny Cook, defenceman Tom Campbell and goalie Barry Van Gerbig wear the Green and White of the St. Nicks, who dropped a 4-2 decision in a scrimmage with Coach Norm Wood's squad last month.

Two quick goals against Middlebury in the first three minutes of the opening period Thursday, left Princeton with the impression that it had the game for the taking. Not so. By 8:21 of the second round Tim Carey, PCD alumnus who is co-captain of the Vermont skaters, had scored on a break-away while the visitors were a man short to bring his team even at 2-all.

Early in the third round, Middlebury moved out to a 3-2 advantage, and as the minutes rolled by, appeared to have achieved an upset. With 16 seconds left, however, Princeton's superior depth paid off, the living New Englanders yielding the equalizer as Mike Spence scored over the stretch-out form of Pete Brown. —Continued on Page 41

"IT GET'S BETTER EVERY YEAR;" Coach Tooy Borzok starts his 27th year of coaching—his 11th as basketball coach at PHS—with the comment "it gets better every year." He and captain Peter Heilberger will guide the Little Tigers through a 22-game schedule in 1964-65.

their over-worked sophomore goalie.

As they had throughout the game, the Tigers outshined the losers in the sudden-death extra period. Bert Bruser's slap from 25 feet out at 7:05 got by Brown and that was the ball game.

Brown's fine work in the cage, after the two early scores on which he got scant defensive assistance, kept Middlebury in the game. He had 40 saves, to 21 for Graeme Flanders in the Princeton nets. Steve Cook of Kingston was credited with three assists.

The affair amounted to a reunion of the Princeton Country Day Alumni Association, with eight alumni on hand and a former headmaster among the interested spectators. In addition to Carey, Bob Dorf, John Stevens and Huck Fairman played for Middlebury;

Cook, Mae McMorris and Bob Mueller saw action for Princeton, with a fourth player, George Peterson, sidelined with a hairline fracture of the ankle. Henry B. Ross, former PCD headmaster, was on hand for the occasion.

It was a different story on West Point's elongated rink Saturday night, where Army's bruising sextet was generally in charge while wrapping up a 6-3 decision. The cadets had a 2-goal margin midway through the opening round, were shaved to 3-2 by the end of the second but then added three more before Princeton got its final tally with 29 seconds left. Captain Em Hall scored twice for the Tigers, sophomore Gordon Gladman getting the other.

PHS OPENS FRIDAY

At Asbury Park Saturday. The 1964-65 Princeton High School basketball team will be unveiled for the first time when it entertains Bridgewater-Raritan Friday evening at 7:30. A 6:30 jayvee encounter will precede the contest.

The following day, the Little Tigers will travel to Asbury Park to meet Asbury Park High School in the first round of the Asbury Park Round Robin. Comprised of four schools — Princeton, Asbury Park, Long Branch and Red Bank — the tournament's second round will be played December 26. The event represents Princeton's first entry into a Christmas tournament.

It is not easy to imagine a more difficult beginning for Tony Borzok, starting his 11th season as head coach. Little is known about Asbury Park (the two have never met) but Bridgewater is probably as tough a team as PHS will play all season. The game will be the opener for both schools.

Last year, Bridgewater broke open a close game (48-47 at the end of the third quarter) to win, 70-54, its seventh victory without a loss. On that squad was a 6-7 player who according to Borzok, was the difference. He and three others return from last year's starting five, said Borzok.

"If we can get by that first one, if we can contain that big boy of theirs, we may do all right," said Borzok. "In any event, will learn a lot about ourselves after this first one."

No matter how many they win, it will be a long season for the Blue and White. The team will play 20 regular games this year — the most ever plus those tournament contests for a total of 22. The four extra games do not worry Borzok, however; he quipped, "The more the merrier! I've been coaching 27 years now and it gets better every year."

Starters Named. Heading the five starters named by Borzok is Peter Heilberger, captain and tallest player at 6-3. He will be joined by the veteran and leading scorer of last winter, Wilbur Hines and three newcomers up from the Jayvees. They are Collin Leitch, Mike Underwood and Boger Madden.

The latter three were the triumvirate responsible for the 17-7 mark compiled by the Jayvees last year. Leitch is the tallest at 6-1. "We won't have as much height as last year; this is a different type of team," said Borzok. "This isn't Jayvee anymore, this is varsity and I'll have to match them up right as best I can. Right now, these are the best five at this time."

Rounding out the varsity squad are Kerry Klink, a good sixth man last year; seniors Orrie Tuck, David Young, David Van Ness and juniors Lou Balestrieri and Ed McEwen. The latter two and Hines are the only juniors.

Asked how we thought the team would do this year Borzok replied that, "we should win a few. I can't say if we'll do better than last year (8-10) because we have a much tougher schedule. We'll take them one at a time as we go along. We're ready to go."

"I'll tell you one thing, though," added Borzok. "They all can shoot." Any one — like the New York Yankees — can time, can start bombing."

In pre-season scrimmages against Pennington and East Brunswick, some of those bombs went off and Borzok reported that the team didn't do too badly. The big hope in the PHS camp now is that its bombing won't get defused when it counts.

PHS IN RETROSPECT
And a Look Ahead, Too.
1964, Princeton High's first year as a member of the Southern Division of the Central Jersey Group IV Conference was not a happy one. Playing a nine-game schedule for the first time, the Little Tigers won only three and tied one. They finished fourth in the six-team division.

Tigers On TV Twice

Princeton's many basketball-hungry fans will have a chance to see their favorite team in action twice this season without worrying about the ticket problem. Two of the Tigers' Ivy League games away from home will be televised.

The first is the Columbia game in New York on Friday night, January 15. It will be seen on Channel 11.

The second TV contest is the Yale game at New Haven, to be played at 2 o'clock on Saturday, February 6. The latter is one of a series arranged by the Eastern College Athletic Conference for 22 Eastern stations, with NBC's Channel 4 the New York outlet.

Even their highwater mark, a 27-6 victory over Trenton High, was diminished when Trenton failed to win a single game all year. By almost any standard, his third year at the helm was a disappointing one for coach Dick Wood.

What went wrong? Fundamentally, PHS lacked a strong offense. It's running game on trap plays, off tackle and quick openers up the middle was adequate but that, with an occasional sweep around end, was it. The offense lacked variety and deception.

In nine contests, the Little Tigers failed to score in four — possibly a record in this department. In all, PHS scored 13 times in 1964, the longest payoff run being 15-yard end sweep by Paul Walstad against Steiner.

If an adequate running game that was incapable of producing the long-gainer was a shortcoming, the collapse of Princeton's air attack was even greater. PHS had none. Walstad, Bill Cirullo and Anthony Adams all had a shot at it but none of these tailbacks was able to become the passer Wood was looking for. As a result, Wood was forced to go with a ground game, and the enemy defense, aware of it, stopped the Little Tigers cold.

To a weak offense one must add a rash of injuries to key players and a rugged schedule that conspired against the Blue and White. PHS began the season with two offensive standouts — Walstad and co-captain Bill Aiken.

Aiken was hurt in the Ewing game and was sidelined for the last four. A fine running fullback, he scored six TDs last year and three more in the first four games this season. Aiken was sorely missed. PHS didn't win once without him.

Walstad missed four games because of a fractured collar bone and came back only after a special brace had been made for him. Rich Stewart, co-captain elect, missed most of the season; Dominic Mastrola, a fine guard, sat out the final three games with a wrist injury.

The new schedule was rough — and it's going to get rougher. Three newcomers to the schedule who will be fixtures in futures years — Thomas Jefferson, Notre Dame, and Madison added up to 84 points scored against PHS and three defeats. In 1965, the Blue and White will face the same slate with one change: Hunterdon Central will be replaced with Bridgewater-Raritan, a stronger team.

In scoring this year, Bob Mooney led with four TDs on runs ranging from one to nine yards. He was followed by Aiken and Walstad with three each, all on runs, two of Aiken's being 12-yarders. Single scores were credited to Adams (8-yard run), Bruce Tipi (18-yard pass) and Craig Beachell who converted a fumble into a six-pointer.

Eighteen seniors completed their PHS careers. They are co-captains Bill Aiken and Andy Kulley, Jim Floyd, Ed Ponianski, Dominic Mastrola, Pete Briggs, Ed Hull, Norm White, Pete Heiberger, Bruce Tipi, Harvey Hammond, Bill Bartolino, Bob Mooney, Paul Walstad, Tony Adams, Lofton Henderson, Collin Leitch, and Paul Shields.

What About Next Year?
Who will return to help Wood cope with that demanding 1965 schedule? For one plus, eight members of the 1964 squad will return to fashion what could be an effective backfield. Heading the list will be Bill Cirullo a fine runner, who may yet develop into the fine passer that he gave every intention of becoming when he was sophomore.

Craig Beachell, although used sparingly, gave evidence of strong running at the fullback slot. Lou Balestrieri is another potentially standout fullback.

Defensive backs Ed McEwen and Al Tyson will return as will Ben Apple and tailback Craig Wood.

The line will be anchored by co-captains Rich Stewart and Tony Arcaro. Stewart is a center; Arcaro, a tackle, who was utilized as a running fullback on occasion, so great is his strength.

Other returning linemen are co-captains Bill Reed, Glen Christiansen; guards Dave Nichols, George Markuson, Bob Rogers and Gordon Cannibell; tackles Carl DeCarvalaante, a 6-3, 237-lb behemoth, Joe Hirschberg, Mike Knorr and Alan Dey; and ends Vince Giocannino, Wilbur Hines, Herb Bennett and Mark Dannenauer. The first two ends played extensively this fall.

If need be, coach Wood may have to turn to his own family. Sons Craig and Tommy both saw action in the finale against Madison. Tommy is a 6-4 end and is still growing. Collectively, the Woods may make 1965 a winning season after all.

An engineer said, "One of the things little recognized by the public is the tremendous importance of how much 'make ready'

work is done on a new car by the dealer before it is delivered to a customer. Quality dealers may do ten times as much as others." Before we deliver a new car, it is gone over with a fine tooth comb by men who know just where to look, examine, test, adjust, lubricate, tighten, and if necessary, repair or replace things that may have 'got by' on the assembly line (which represents a big investment on our part). The engineer said, "On such thoroughness by the dealer hangs the answer to whether you may get a costly headache or great satisfaction in a new car. How penny-wise and pound-foolish for a prospect to be more concerned with a few dollar initially than with the integrity of the dealer!" We can only add an emphatic Amen. . . and when you deal with us, you'll get priceless peace of mind, with our pledge to serve you as we would want to be served. DEFEAT IN OVERTIME For Tigers at Villanova. Ability to carry one of the nation's top-ranked quintets into overtime on its own court was credited to Princeton's basketball team Monday night, but at the same time, the first loss of the season went into the debit column.

The Tigers dropped a 61-60 decision to Villanova at the Mainliners' fieldhouse before 3200 howling fans, after having held the opposition to 54-all at the end of 40 minutes and walking off the floor at half-time ahead by 28-25. The Orange and Black killed the clock for nearly two minutes prior to the extra session in an effort to win on a last-second field goal, but Bill Bradley's jumper bounced off the rim just before the final buzzer.

In an extremely close contest which never saw either team lead by more than three points, Princeton held the advantage during most of the first half, the home team during much of the second, before the 54-all deadlock was created. In the overtime session, the Wildcats led most of the way, only to see reserve guard Bill Kingston engineer a steal with 45 seconds left and give the visitors a short-lived, 60-to-59 advantage.

Villanova then moved quickly downcourt to record its final two points of the frantic battle. Princeton took time out with eight seconds left, but never got off a shot as center Robby Brown was called for traveling. Bradley made 23 points, with Gary Walters' 10 the only other contribution in double figures. The Tigers lost at the foul line, where they missed eight of 20 shots, several of them on bonus situations.

SKATERS THUMP PENN

Win Easily, 10-1. A five-goal first period, during which center Bert Bruser got the hat trick, provided Princeton with its anticipated one-sided triumph over Penn in hockey Tuesday night in Baker Rink.

The Quakers have only recently moved from club to varsity status, but in the long run, hope to join the Ivy League—as Cornell has in reviving the sport there a decade ago. Sixteen penalties, eight for each side, dotted the inevitably sloppy contest.

POST OFFICE WINS

Strykers Combine for 52. Billy Stryker tossed in 27 points, two more than teammate Charlie Stryker, as the Post Office trounced Hospital, 80-58, Thursday at the West Windsor gym, in play in the Princeton YMCA Research and Industrial Basketball League. Sam Lowe was high for the losers with 23.

In the first game, Astro defeated RCA Labs, 46-37. Jim Spivlock of Astro and Butch Boujay of RCA tied for scoring laurels with 14 points each.

Earlier in the week, at the Princeton High School gym, last year's champions, American Cyanamid, fell, 60-55, be-

ALL-AMERICAN AGAIN: Cosmo Iacavuzzi has joined Dick Kazmaier, Frank McPhee and the late Stan Keek as the only Princeton football players in the modern era to receive All-American recognition twice. The captain of the unbeaten 1964 Tigers was a selection of the Football Coaches of America in 1963 and the Associated Press last week.

fore a smooth-operating Educational Testing quintet. Clarence Gilbert with 20 points, Paul Harmon (16) and John Selsam (13) provided the bulge which Cyanamid's last-quarter rally was unable to overcome. Phil Shumway with 23 and Bob Montgomery with 19 were high for Cyanamid.

Outscoring its opponent in every period but the third, Western Electric defeated Opinion Research, 55-41. Bill McPhee of the victors scored 20 points. Bill Grove of ORC matched this to share scoring honors.

HUN OPENS SATURDAY

Against Bryn Athyn. The Hun School basketball team will open its season here Saturday against Bryn Athyn in the first of 12 Penn-Jersey League contests. All Hun home games are played in the Princeton Theological Seminary gymnasium.

Last year, Hun was in contention for league honors until the final game and finished with a 7-5 mark. This season, Coach Bob Simpson is hopeful the Red and Black will do better and perhaps finish on top. A graduate of the Theological Seminary, Simpson, who played his collegiate ball at Wheaton College, Ill., is starting his third season as coach.

Three of Hun's regulars from last year return, headed by co-captains Scott Page and Mike Leon. Mike Miller, a 5-11 junior and top rebounder, completes the returning nucleus. Holes left by the departing Ted Isaacson and Tryg Sletteland will be filled from among Scott Anderson, Paul Vogel and Peter Mutnick, a promising newcomer, who at 6-2 is the tallest player on the squad.

The key to Hun's success will rest in large measure this year on the stocky shoulders of Page. A versatile athlete (as a fullback Page led the 1964 undefeated Hun football team in scoring by a wide margin, and is a .400 hitting pitcher for the baseball team). Page has been the top scorer in Hun basketball for the past two years.

Although he is not tall (5-10), Page can score from all over. "He can hit from the corners, from far out front and he can drive in, too. That's what makes him so effective," said Simpson. "He's developed even more this year so this is the time for us to do something, if we ever are."

One liability is a lack of height. Leon at 6-0 is the tallest of the returning veterans. "We'll be small again for the third consecutive year," said Simpson. Whether this shortcoming will be more than offset by Hun's experience and overall playmaking ability will be tested for the first time Thursday in a scrimmage against Peddie.

The bulk of the 1964-65 schedule is comprised of home-and-home games with the six Penn-Jersey league members—Bryn Athyn, Perkiomen, George School, Solebury, Pennington and Moorestown.

The complete schedule: Dec. 12, Bryn Athyn; Jan. 9, Perkiomen; 13, George School, away; 16, Solebury; 20, Pennington, away; 23, Bryn Athyn, away; 27, Pingry; 29, Moorestown; Feb. 3, George School; 6, Solebury, away; 10, Pennington; 13, Perkiomen, away; 17, Moorestown, away.

BOWLING NOTES

Maul Widens Lead. Maul Electric swept three games in "B" League play to widen its lead to seven points, 55-48, over Pete and Mike's. Smith Binding moved into third place with 47 points on the season.

Led by Don Snyder and Bill Cavanaugh, four bowlers cleared the 200 mark. Cavanaugh was high with 218 while Snyder had the best series, 213-206-184-603. Joe Baldino had games of 215 and 201 and Frank Sannino bowled a 204 contest.

Papp's Pro Shop maintained its two-point margin in the Three-Man Classic League, with two victories. Lahey's Men's Wear has 19 points to move one up on Johnson Electric in third place.

Baldino, with games of 189, 223 and 211 for a total of 623, captured individual series honors. Val Ranallo had the high game, 231, followed by Bud Cavanaugh, 222; Bill Cavanaugh, 214; Pres Aeschbacher, 213; Nick Sculerati, 212; Ed Hughes, 210.

Fourteen individuals bowled better than 200 scores in the Nassau League as Tiger Garage remained four points in front of Nassau Liquor, 54-50. Decker's Dairy, Bear Brook, Cooper and Schuster and Grover Lumber were tied for third with 44 points apiece.

The individual scores: Leo Marioini, 245; Ernie Hunt, 233; Charles Perpetua Jr., 222; Ed Dayton, 221; Mike Kopiner, 216 and 207; Flory Procaccini, 213; Bob Sculerati, 210; Jerry Perpetua, 209; Jim Miller, 205; Dick Harris and George Kirby, 204 each; Ron Phillips, 202; Pete Homan and Frank Sannino, 201 each.

Princeton Number 1 on Top. Princeton Number 1 held a two-point lead, 46-44, over the Kingston Fire Department in the Tri-County Firemen's conference. Dutch Neck, with 40 points, was in third place, while six other teams were within six points of third.

Wally Brown had scores of 229 and 234 for a series of 623 to sweep individual honors. Art Parr was next with 212 followed by Les Luck, 204; Stanley Donald, 202; and Elmer McHugh, 201.

In the Business Women's League, Merritt Insurance Agency led with 48 points, two points better than New Jersey Manni Real Estate. Lillian Burrough bowled 180 and 175. Emma Lohouse had a 177 and Janet Groover scored a 171.

Among the YMCA Blue Angels, the Triple C's led with 10 points, followed by the Wildcats, Sharks and Tigers with eight, four and two points respectively. Ken Grob had a 172. Tom Wood a 168 and Ken Grob 166.

Ivy League Is No. 1.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am writing to let you know that I did not receive last week's copy of TOWN TOPICS and I did so want to get that copy with the account of the Cornell game, so if you have any copies left would you please mail me one?

The papers down here never give any space to the Ivy League games. It is all the Big Ten and the Fighting Irish. Who cares about them?

Sincerely,

DAVID DOVE
12 Ocean Breeze Circle
Ormond Beach, Florida

Editor's Note: A second copy of TOWN TOPICS' Cornell-Princeton game report was sent post-haste to Mr. Dove. Who are the Fighting Irish, anyway?

Post Office Site Questioned

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It was announced in the local press (November 26) that the Post Office Department had tentatively approved a site on North Harrison Street for the construction of a new Post Office building for Princeton.

There is no question that increased Post Office capacity is needed in Princeton but I question whether the location which tentatively has been chosen for the proposed new Post Office is right and proper for our community. I feel that a "commercial" activity in the proposed location can have only detrimental effects on the residential area which surrounds the proposed site on three sides.

The present traffic situation in the area is unsatisfactory and unsafe today. Additional traffic generating installations such as a Post Office in this area will cause a further deterioration in the traffic situation as well as in the residential quality of the neighborhood. It seems to be a truism that as the concentration of automobiles increases in an area the area declines in character and beauty.

The proposed site is within Princeton Township in the R-6 residential zone. This indicates that major variances and rezoning will be required before construction can begin.

Why is it that an enlightened town such as Princeton will spend many thousands of dollars to develop a master plan which is supposed to intelligently prepare for the future growth and orderly development of our community and to have this master plan chopped into pieces by variances, both major and minor? This makes a sham out of the master plan and a total waste of the taxpayers' money which paid for the master plan developments and studies.

It is also difficult to understand how the Federal Government, through the Post Office Department and the this year, or next, or the year

Chamber of Commerce could encourage such developments when efforts are being made to somehow stop the ugly urban sprawl that currently is engulfing many sections of our land.

It is interesting to note that this whole operation up to positive action rather than now, has taken place quietly and without adequate publicity. It has been made public only now during the Christmas season when people are busy with things related to the sea.

If we are to attempt to stop after that. Taking their cue from Mayor Wilson's sweeping of what fee, if any, would be and false) catch-phrase, "even charged for swimming had to

pool in 1965," our chronically evasive, do-nothing Borough Council and Mayor have again caused if it finds it difficult to reach such tiny decisions it certainly hasn't much capacity for making large ones.

Mr. Wood said a pool was used only a fraction of a year and therefore should take a low priority. Parks and snowplows, schools and streetsweepers and fire engines are also used only a fraction of the time. Does that mean that we don't need them?

Mrs. Wilson and Carrick stated during the campaign that they were "for" a public swimming pool. They also said before Republicans what else could they say? that we had to be really prudent and that still further study was needed.

But this is the classic answer when you really don't want to do anything about a proposal. Sure enough, the voting machines had hardly cooled off when, at a pre-lease meetings of Borough Council and Township Committee, these gentlemen were joined by their equally do-nothing colleagues in calls for caution, hence, study and inaction during the approaching year.

STEVE M. SLABY

Referendum Supported.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The League of Women Voters of Hopewell Valley has been actively working for a "yes" vote on the December 14 referendum which proposes the regionalizing of Hopewell Borough, Pennington Borough and Hopewell Township school districts. The League believes that any proposal that solves so many problems—overcrowding, staggered sessions, no high school for Hopewell Borough students and, at the same time, brings in $2 million of additional State aid certainly is worthwhile.

There has been a great deal of discussion about the method of assessing costs for the annual operating budget. The "per pupil" basis of assessing costs, in our judgement is equitable, why is it not fair for each municipality to pay for its children educated in the schools? The present small disparity will tend toward equalization in the next few years.

School costs will rise whether we rent church rooms, go on double sessions or build new schools. A growing school system demands additional investment. The quality of education in our schools must take precedence over all other considerations.

The League urges your support of the regionalization proposal.

After starting his career as a car salesman in Easton, Pa., Mr. Cregar moved to Trenton in 1958, accepting a sales position with Tiefenbach and Yetter. Two years later, he acquired his own new-car dealership on N. Olden Avenue. He sold this to establish his Studebaker-MG-Austin Healey dealership in Morrisville which he will retain.

TO BUILD 35 HOMES

In West Windsor. Construction has begun on the 35 homes to be known as "Princeton Farms," located on Old Cranbury Road at Grovers Mill Road in West Windsor. Robert L. Shender is the developer.

Houses will be built on at least three-quarters of an acre, and will start at $35,000. The sites overlook a lake.

In East Windsor Township, more than 60 units have been rented in Mr. Shender's "Wynbrook Gardens" apartments and more than 40 are already occupied.

Immediate occupancy is now available in several of the one-bedroom units, and additional two-bedroom units will be ready for occupancy after Christmas. Applications are now being accepted for early spring.

"Wynbrook Gardens" is a multi-building garden court apartment on Hickory Corner Road west of Route 130 and two blocks south of Route 571. Rentals begin at $125 with all utilities except electricity. Amron Realty is the sales representative for both of Mr. Shender's projects.

News Of The Theatres

Of the 53 on board, only the stewardess survives.

From a beginning that most aviation films build up to, the story moves along in a suspenseful way that makes the viewer almost a participant. An intensive investigation takes place, led by the airline executive who was a wartime buddy of the pilot. A bit of flashback here and there is used to reconstruct the lives of some of the people involved. The most chilling part comes when the executive takes off in an identical plane under identical circumstances.

Rod Taylor's performance as the pilot is a standout among a sparkling half-dozen, including Glenn Ford as the executive, Nancy Kwan, Suzanne Pleshette and Jane Russell (in a cameo segment).

COMMENT: Suspense airborne.

The Young Lovers (through Tuesday). Produced and directed by Sam Goldwyn Jr., his first try. "Young Lovers" is an unembroidered re-telling of the unwed-mother story.

The boy and girl (Peter Fonda and Sharon Hugueny) are college students. Their carefree affair hits a snag when the girl discovers she's pregnant and the boy figures he'll lose a chance at a graduate school fellowship if he marries her.

The picture was photographed on a college campus and in adjacent interiors, with other students involved in the story as friends, and with a history professor, unaware of the reason for the boy's preoccupation, giving him a bit of

he is doomed by a bad heart to die within a few weeks. He busies himself finding a new husband for his wife (Miss Day) before he expires.

The film pokes fun at television commercials for headaches and stomach pains; hypochondriacs, life in the suburbs, physicians' fees, male buddies and green stamps for caskets.

Tony Randall is droll as Hudson's best friend, and Paul Lynde as the funeral director creates an unforgettable funny scene when he describes to Hudson the "benefits" offered by his establishment.

In Princeton

BEAUX ARTS TRIO HEARD
Plays on High Level. On Monday night at 10 McCosh Hall, the Beaux Arts Trio presented a program of chamber music on the highest level while maintaining the finest performance standards. The members of the Trio are Daniel Guilet, violin, Bernard Greenhouse, violoncello and Menahem Pressler, piano.

For their program, the group played Beethoven's Trio No. 4 in D Major, Opus 70, No. 1 "the Ghost"; The Trio No. 2 in E Minor, Op. 67 by Shostakovich and the Trio No. 2 in C Major, Opus 87 by Brahms.

Right from the opening notes of Beethoven's "Ghost" Trio, it was evident that these musicians were second to none in the art of chamber music playing. Each member is an artist in his own right yet they play with musicality, tonal balance, feeling, expression and virtuosity together as a group.

One of the most overwhelming moments of the evening occurred during the slow movement of the Beethoven. Here, control is of the essence and the delicacy in dynamic shading, bowing and piano color displayed by these performers was really breathtaking to bear.

Mr. Pressler's interpretations throughout the evening not only brought forth his mastery of the music but demonstrated quite clearly that the piano can blend in ensemble with stringed instruments when a master musician is at the keyboard. Too often in piano trios, the strings seem obliterated in a mass of sound emanating from the piano, but Mr. Pressler's rendition of his part blended unusually well with his partners, so that at times, one did not feel the piano as a separate entity, but rather as an equal member of the Trio (almost a third string instrument). This is the way it should be but seldom is in the hands of lesser artists.

Then on to Brahms. The Shostakovich, an uneven work in many respects, nevertheless possessed a plaintive, almost Hassidic charm. The score was composed in memory of a Jewish friend of the composer who was liquidated in a Nazi Concentration Camp during World War II.

The slow movements suggest prayer and mourning while the two fast movements reflect the spirit of the Hassidic dances. One would have to be acquainted with this particular ethnic quality in order to feel an empathy with the music on first hearing. It is a credit to the performers that this feeling was imparted to this writer, who had not previously heard the score before.

The concluding work of the evening was the Brahms Trio No. 2 in C. It is one of Brahms' most lyrical works, especially from the second movement on. This was one of the few times Brahms' chamber music for strings and piano did not sound overly thick and pompous.

It reinstated my belief in Brahms as a master in areas where I previously felt him wanting. The musical ideas, of course, are there and it is up to the performers to present them in a convincing and expressive manner. This the Beaux Art Trio did. What more can one ask?

As an encore, the Trio played the slow movement from Dvorak's "Dumky" Trio, and what a pearl of a work this music is! There is much of Dvorak that needs reawakening.

Make no mistake about it: this man is probably the most underrated composer of the 19th century. Such wonderful textures, brilliant melodic ideas and fascinating harmonic progressions are abundant in this short excerpt that one wishes to hear all of it the next time the Beaux Art Trio returns to Princeton, and we hope that is soon.

— ARNO SAFRAN

GOLDBERG: IN TOTO

Barpsichordist to Play Bach. The complete "Goldberg" Variations by Johann Sebastian Bach will be performed Monday by Ralph Kirkpatrick, harpsichordist, as part of an all-Bach program which he will play in McCarter starting at 9:30.

The 30-plus Variations, which take almost an hour to play, will constitute the entire first half of Mr. Kirkpatrick's program. Following intermission, he will play the "Italian" Concerto and the Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue in D Minor.

CLUBS IN DUET

Two Groups to Meet. Members of the Princeton Music Club and the Music Study Group will gather for a joint meeting this Thursday at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cook, Kingston.

The Concert of the Columbus Boychoir School will sing under the direction of Donald T. Bryant. Other performers will be Lois Lavery, James Waters, Robert Hecker, Clyde Tipton, John Winterbottom, John Ellis and Thomas Uchmann. Composers to be represented are Hindemith, Teleman, De Brossard and Bartok.

Mrs. Lester Plum and Mrs. Donald Armstrong will be hostesses for the evening.

IN ORBIT!

"Astronauts" Coming. The rock 'n roll combo known as The Astronauts will bring their dynamic, hard-driving music to Princeton this Saturday afternoon to raise money for the Campus Fund Drive sponsored by the Undergraduate Council of Princeton University. The appearance will be in Alexander Hall from 2 to 4 p.m.

The Campus Fund Drive contributes to the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, the National Association for Mental Health, the American Friends Service Committee, the African Service Institute and the Community Development Foundation. In addition, the CFD contributes to the Trenton Tutor Project and the Princeton Summer Camp.

The Astronauts can play Liverpool, Surf, Hot Rod, or classic Rock 'n Roll. The five musicians, all of whom come from the Boulder-Denver area of Colorado, have recorded four albums and numerous singles for RCA.

Admission will be a donation of $2. Tickets are on sale at the University Store and Renwick's.

News Of The CHURCHES

YULETIDE PROGRAMS SET
By Presbyterian Women. The Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church and the Women's Guild of Second Presbyterian will hold their annual Christmas festivities on Monday.

At First Church, the women will gather at 6:45 for dinner, followed by a program and installation of new officers. Mrs. J. C. Lambert Jr., Association president, will officiate.

The speaker is Mrs. Samuel H. Moffett, a missionary to Korea. Joseph McKee will provide special music, and the evening will close with the traditional candle lighting ceremony.

Second Church. "Christmas in Many Lands" is the theme chosen by the Women's Guild for their 8 p.m. meeting. Mrs. Joseph Thomas, Guild president, is in charge.

Each of the six circles will decorate a table showing Christmas customs in a foreign land and serve refreshments typical of the country. Circle presidents are Mrs. Gilmore Stiteley, Mrs. William L. Tucker, Mrs. P. B. Silvester Sr., Mrs. F. Hugh Liffiton, Mrs. Harry Ensminger and Mrs. Nicholas Carnevale.

An invitation is extended to all women to join in the program.

PLAN MISSIONARY DAY

At Mt. Pisgah. Mrs. Prince A. Taylor will discuss "The Christian Mission in the New Nations" at 11 Sunday at Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church.

The program, marking Missionary Day, is sponsored by the Rachel Conover Missionary Society. Mrs. Collie Herron is president, and Mrs. Albert Tyson, supervisor.

Mrs. Taylor, wife of Bishop Taylor, head of the New Jersey Area of the Methodist Church, served with her husband in Liberia for several years. A coffee hour follows the service.

ELECTRIC LIVING GUIDE

All rights reserved. B. F. Dickerson & Co., Inc., New York.

"JUST ONE MORE CHANCE . . . AND . . ."

"First home buyers lack a very telling quality . . . experience."

"And though many families move around enough to become shrewd as real estate professionals, some are going to stay stuck with the initial homestead all — or most — of their lives," says broker-appraiser.

"In the last three years, you'll find those with the know-how demanding a lot of features with these five near the top:

- Complete electrical heating system
- Minimum of two bathrooms
- Two-area kitchen
- Storage space adjacent to area of use
- Double sinks."

"That percentage of American families who trade in and trade up on homes (as with cars) every few years, are of course, going to learn what adds up to comfort, convenience and resale value."

"But what about the family whose 'inadequate house' is located in the best place for work and other needs like schools? Are they going to have to sit it out a life time, fighting it out with the furnace, getting by with a stingy sink and a waiting line outside the single bathroom?

"Not necessarily. Maybe what's needed most is a point of view that's new. For example any dollar spent now in taking down an unnecessary interior wall . . . or making breaking through an old exterior wall to enlarge a room, will bring more dollars later on if you have to sell.

— Heavy Housepower Wiring A Must —

"A good time to update the heating system to electricity is when you replace the conversion to heavy housepower wiring is a 'must' for modern electrical living for the appliances you now have, for the one's you'll acquire.

"That job, once done, isn't going to need re-doing. Your electrical contractor can foresee and provide for future needs."

"But the big comfort and pleasure factor is of course the electrical heating. The saving of trouble and money on maintenance (there's usually none at all needed) would be worth the doing even if comfort and modernity weren't involved."

"Another good thing about electrical heating is that you gain space. No boilers, no tanks needed. Also, no radiators. Every room seems bigger because furniture arrangements are no longer limited."

"Best of all, electrical heating systems don't wear out; pair your conversion to electrical heating with the recommended insulation and you've given yourself not just a sound house, but a sound investment."

UP-DATE... ANTIQUE HEATING NOW!

This elegant relic reminds us of by-gone days. Be elegant, better your days ahead with total electric home heating.

QUESTION BOX

Q. Why do you recommend thermostats in every room with electrical heating when others mention three-zones?

A. The cumbersome equipment, piping, etc., of older systems is complex. Separate bulky piping is needed to maintain varying temperatures. Electrical heating, on the other hand, doesn't need bulky equipment. It delivers heat directly to the room, any room, any area with immediacy. Older systems just don't have this precision. Obviously, one would be loathe to recommend what one can't achieve. Obviously room-by-room control can deliver a more nearly ideal inner climate. And thermostats in every room are much praised by those who live in electrically heated houses. You can keep the temperature down in the workshop, high in the family room where the baby is crawling around . . . or change either at a moment's notice when the room will not be in use again for a period of time.

Q. Do many people convert older houses to electrical heating?

A. Of the two million electrically heated homes in the United States, it is estimated that approximately 28% are conversions.

Q. Because of highway construction my doctor-husband is relocating his office next year, . . . and we plan to build. Do you have any suggestions about additional wiring he may need for such equipment as X-Ray machines, etc? The office will be incorporated into our new home.

A. The answer is always: "Get in touch fast with an expert electrical contractor. Spell out your requirements." You'll find he may have some very good suggestions that can then be incorporated from the beginning of the design stage when you start talking to your architect. We can assure you, though, that electrical heating will prove exceptionally adaptable, since office temperatures can be lowered when that part of the structure is not in use, and can be switched on again the instant it's needed.

Q. A while back you detailed the requirements for electrical heating in vacation homes. Please settle an argument. I contend standards are not the same as for a regular house.

A. You're wrong, at least as far as construction and insulation. They should be of the best, for long-run economy as well as comfort. Furnishings of course, can be minimum.

If You Are Planning To Build, Buy or Remodel Call Any One Of The Contractors Listed Below. He'll Give You All The Facts On Total Electric Home Heating.

small

Think of a beautifully kept small home. Now keep thinking small... small lot, small yard, small amount of work, to maintain, small price, small down payment, and small monthly payments. In fact, this house is small in every detail except charm. This old Colonial town house has an entrance hall, living room, dining room, and kitchen with fireplace on the first floor. Wide floor boards are another feature of this old charmer. There are three bedrooms on the second floor plus an attic and basement. Excellent location near shopping, schools, churches and bus service. Just perfect for the young marrieds or the retired couple. It's in Pennington just 7 miles from Princeton. The price is $18,950. A qualified buyer can move in with $1000 down and monthly payments of $127, i.e. $6.50 per $11,000 per month of mortgage, computed 25 years at 5 1/2% (less if down payment is larger). Call today.

Our definition of a custom home in Princeton

It is a home that reflects your taste and requirements completely. It is a home that reflects the finest traditions of Princeton completely. It is a home that enjoys the beauty of the woods, and the convenience of all city utilities.
It is a home built by Princeton's most successful custom builders.

In other words, it is one of the 19 homes of Balcort, to be custom built by Sandean Construction, Inc.

Show us your plans, or tell us your requirements and we will design for you.

a heritage home in exclusive Mansgrove ESTATES

Queenston Builders take pride in presenting to Princeton the finest examples of the custom home builder's craft.

Here, in Mansgrove Estates, seventeen select town houses are shortly to become available. Each of these traditional, limited edition homes enhances the spreading acres of unspoiled woodland of an old Princeton holding, the original Mansgrove estate.

Your choice of design, your choice of lot, and only brief minutes away from shops, schools, the center of Princeton . . . Yet private . . . remote from the intrusions of highway and commerce.

What gift more precious, what gift more permanent, than your own proud gift of a Mansgrove Home? Yours, and hers, forever, from Queenston.

Phone for an appointment today. Visit Mansgrove Estates with your personal representative from Carnegie Realty, exclusive sales agents.

UNUSUAL . . . for Princeton, that is — for here is a well-built Cape Cod in a wooded neighborhood, close to the Shopping Center and the N. Y. Express bus, that offers a wonderful opportunity to the imaginative house holder.
Now it has 2 bedrooms, 1 bath, large living room, an interesting dining-kitchen layout. But a shed dormer could add 2 more bedrooms and bath, and add immensely to the value of this property.
$24,500

CONVENIENT . . . close to the Shopping Center, and in one of the Township's most companionable new neighborhoods, this fine one-story Colonial has living room with fireplace, separate dining room, all-electric kitchen with breakfast space, 3 bedrooms, 2 bath, and a panelled playroom.
$31,500

GEORGIAN COLONIAL . . . with 5 bedrooms, 3 baths and powder room which offers everything that is desirable in country living — including its location on beautiful Mercer Road. This fine residence has been meticulously maintained, and the perfection of its landscaping, and its decor, bespeak its quality. Here is a residence that you'll enjoy, and you'll never quite get over the pleasure of your first visit as you approach the house under the spreading trees that line both sides of Princeton's most beautiful street. $75,000

TWO-FAMILY . . . here is that much-sought-after rarity in Prioceton — a real income-producing property that is also new, modern and rather attractive. Each floor offers living room, dining room, kitchen, 2 bedrooms and bath. The basement has separate heating and laundry equipment for each unit.
You can live in one and rent the other for enough to cover your taxes and probably half of your payments on the mortgage. $39,500

RIDGE ROAD . . . in the western part of our Township, this fine residence was designed for genuinely comfortable living. Living room with fireplace, separate dining room, modern kitchen and a study for the man who brings home that full briefcase. 4 bedrooms, 2 baths and powder room.
Here is a wonderful home in one of Princeton's most favored locations.
$67,500

RIVERSIDE . . . in this charming wooded neighborhood, this well-built, and extremely well-maintained, Cape Cod offers a great opportunity to the discerning home-seeker. Living room (24x14) with fireplace in a pine-panelled wall, separate dining room, modern kitchen, den (or guest room) bedroom and 1 bath on first floor.
Second floor: 2 large bedrooms, good closets, dressing room and bath. There is a view of the lake from the side porch, and the entire property has that aspect of maturity so wanted by many people. $45,000

First floor has an entrance hall, living room with fireplace, dining room, modern kitchen, flagstone terrace overlooking garden. Second floor: four bedrooms, three baths. Third floor: bedroom, study and bath. There is a full storage space and an attractive powder room. The furnace and water piping have recently been renewed; the outside of the house painted this year. Owner is moving in June and would like to settle then but will show it on appointment.

Many other properties for sale and some rentals.
